No. 2.—Report of the examination of such opium.

6. The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured in the Ghazipur Factory, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug, when packed at the Ghazipur Factory, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal.

7. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Government entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred, on reference to chests, after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

"After rule 20 of the said rules, the following rules shall be inserted, namely :—

Persons by whom motions in respect of Bills may be made.

20A. (1) No motion that a Bill be taken into consideration or be passed shall be made by any member other than the member in charge of the Bill and no motion that a Bill be referred to a Select Committee or be circulated or re-circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon shall be made by any member other than the member in charge except by way of amendment to a motion made by the member in charge.

(2) For the purposes of this rule 'member in charge of the Bill' means, in the case of a Government Bill, any member acting on behalf of the Government and, in any other case, the member who has introduced the Bill.

20B. (1) Where—

(a) a dilatory motion has been carried in respect of a Government Bill, or

(b) the Council refuses to take into consideration or to refer to a Select Committee or to pass any Government Bill, and thereafter the Governor recommends that the Bill be passed in a particular form, a motion may be made for leave to introduce the Bill in that form, and where such recommendation has been made in the case referred to in clause (a), the Bill in respect of which the dilatory motion has been made shall be deemed to have been withdrawn.

(2) Where a Bill has been introduced after a recommendation under sub-rule (1) any motion may, subject to the provisions of these rules, be made in respect of the Bill notwithstanding that such motion raises a question substantially identical with one on which the Council has already given a decision in the same session.

(3) For the purposes of this rule and of rule 20C, 'a dilatory motion' means a motion that a Bill be referred to a Select Committee or that it be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon or any other motion the effect of the carrying of which will be to delay the passage of a Bill.

(2) No dilatory motion shall be made in connection with a Bill in respect of which a recommendation has been made (hereinafter referred to as a recommended Bill) without the consent of the member in charge of the Bill, and, if any such motion has been made but has not been carried prior to the communication to the Council of the recommendation, such motion shall not be put to the Council.

(3) Where during the passage of a Bill the Governor makes a recommendation in respect thereof, and any clause of the Bill has been agreed to, or any amendment has been made, in a form inconsistent with the form recommended, the member in charge of the Bill may move any amendment which, if accepted, would bring the Bill into the form recommended.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Third Forecast of the Cotton Crops of Bengal, 1924-25.

[NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1922-23, the area under the cotton crops in Bengal has represented some 0·2 per cent. of the total area under cotton in India.]

THERE are two crops—early and late. The "early" crop is chiefly grown in the Chittagong Hill Tracts and in the Tripura State and to a small extent also in other districts. The "late" crop is chiefly grown in Bankura and Midnapore.

Character of the season.—As indicated in the previous forecasts the weather was not entirely favourable at sowing time and for some time afterwards. Subsequently, however, the conditions improved and a good outturn is anticipated. In the less important districts the outturn is expected to be poor owing to damage caused by excessive rain.

Area sown.—The total area sown with early cotton is returned at 75,777 acres and that with late at 1,207 acres, against 69,599 acres and 1,437 acres, respectively, in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Outturn.—The outturn of the early crop is estimated at 23,905 bales and the late crop at 350 bales, against 22,417 bales and 372 bales, respectively, in the corresponding forecast of the last year.

RESOLUTION.

TARIFFS.

Delhi, the 27th November 1924.

No. 260-T. (15).—The Government of India have received the report of the Tariff Board called for in Resolution No. 260-T. (15), dated 8th October 1924, of the Commerce Department, on the application by Messrs. Tata Sons, Limited, Agents of the Tata Iron and Steel Company, requesting that the Governor General in Council should exercise his powers under section 2 (1) of the Steel Industry (Protection) Act, 1924 (XIV of 1924). It will be available for sale in Calcutta and Bombay on Friday, November 28th.

2. The Board has examined the prices at which steel is being imported and those which the Tata Iron and Steel Company has been able to obtain for its products. As a result mainly of a heavy fall in the sterling prices of Continental steel and of the maintenance of the exchange in the neighbourhood of 1*s.* 6*d.*, the Board finds definitely that the Steel Industry (Protection) Act has so far failed to achieve its purpose. For this reason, the Board recommends heavy increases in the duties on unfabricated steel with consequential increases on fabricated articles. The different recommendations are conveniently summarised in the following table :—

Unfabricated iron and steel.

Class of material	Present duty.	Proposed duty.
Steel bars	40	75
Iron bars	35	65
Steel structural sections ...	30	65
Iron structural sections ...	20	50
Plates	30	55
Black sheet	30	52
Galvanized sheet ...	45	78
Tin plate	60	104
Rails and fishplates, medium and heavy	11	30
Rails and fishplates, light ...	40	75

Fabricated iron and steel and miscellaneous.

Fabricated structures ...	25 per cent. ad valorem ...	25 per cent. ad valorem plus Rs. 60 per ton.
Coal tubs, etc., and built-up pipes ...	25 per cent. ad valorem ...	25 per cent. ad valorem plus Rs. 47 per ton.
Fabricated steel beams, channels, angles, etc. ...	25 per cent. ad valorem ...	25 per cent. ad valorem plus Rs. 54 per ton.
Fabricated iron, angles, etc.	15 per cent. ad valorem ...	15 per cent. ad valorem plus Rs. 44 per ton.
Fabricated plates ...	25 per cent. ad valorem ...	25 per cent. ad valorem plus Rs. 41 per ton.
Fabricated sheets ...	15 per cent. ad valorem ...	15 per cent. ad valorem plus Rs. 40 per ton.
Spikes and tie-bars ...	Rs. 40	Rs. 75 per ton.
Switches and crossings ...	25 per cent. ad valorem ...	25 per cent. ad valorem plus Rs. 35 per ton.
Wire nails	Rs. 60	Rs. 90 per ton.

3. The Government of India accept the finding of the Tariff Board that the protection given by the Steel Industry (Protection) Act has been insufficient, and that further protection is necessary in order to give effect to the intentions of the Legislature as expressed in section 2 (1) of the Act. But they do not think that this further protection should take the form of the very heavy additional duties proposed by the Tariff Board. The Government of India have calculated, in accordance with the methods adopted by the Board in its original report, that these additional duties would impose a burden on the consumer of more than two crores of rupees while the maximum benefit which, if prices rose by the full amount of the increase of duty they would confer on the industry would not exceed Rs. 50 lakhs in a year. But the Tariff Board reports the existence of heavy stocks of imported steel in India, and until these stocks are exhausted, the industry could not derive the full advantage of the new tariff. Further objection to the proposed duties is that, if the duties on unfabricated steel are increased, it is necessary to go further and also to increase the duties on fabricated steel.

4. In these circumstances, the Government of India have decided that the further assistance which the Board reports to be necessary would more appropriately take the form of bounties. The protective duties imposed in June last have brought in more revenue than was anticipated. Up to the 31st October last, the total receipts from these duties amounted to 106 lakhs, and it is calculated that at least fifty lakhs represent extra revenue arising from the enhancements in the duties. Thus even if allowance is made for the commitments of the Government of India in respect of the bounties contemplated by sections 3 and 4 of the Act, it is probable that there will be a considerable net surplus of revenue from these protective duties as compared with the estimate framed when the duties were imposed. The Government of India therefore propose to recommend to the Legislative Assembly as soon as it meets in January next that the protection now afforded to the industry should be supplemented by bounties. The exact form which these bounties will take and other questions connected with the best method of working the system will require detailed consideration, but the choice seems to lie between bounties on the different classes of raw steel specified in paragraph 2 above at rates equivalent to the additional duties proposed and bounties on finished steel produced in India so calculated as to give approximately the same financial return to the industry. As at present advised, the Government of India are in favour of the later alternative, and their recommendation will probably take the form that the bounty should amount to Rs. 20 per ton on finished steel produced in India. They are further of opinion that these bounties should be given for one year from 1st October last to 30th September next, that they should be subject to a limit of Rs. 50 lakhs, and that before the period indicated expires, the whole matter should be reviewed in the light of the circumstances then prevailing in order that it may be decided before the opening of the autumn session whether it is necessary or advisable to place fresh proposals before the Assembly.

5. The Tariff Board was precluded by its terms of reference from considering any form of protection other than that contemplated by section 2 of the Steel Industry (Protection) Act. But the Government of India have ascertained that the Board warmly approves of the additional protection which it has found to be necessary, taking the form of bounties.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution be communicated to all Local Governments and Administrations, all Departments of the Government of India, the Director-General of Commercial Intelligence, the Indian Trade Commissioner in London, and to the Secretary, Tariff Board.

Ordered also that it be published in the Gazette of India.

ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE EXCISE DEPARTMENT, BENGAL, FOR THE YEAR 1923-24.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 6165Ex.—The 8th December 1924.—The following extracts from the report of the Commissioner of Excise and Salt on the administration of the Excise Department in Bengal, during the year 1923-24, are published for general information.

G. S. DUTT,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

No. 4309E., dated Calcutta, the 27th September 1924.

From—J. C. PLATTS, ESQ., Commissioner of Excise and Salt, Bengal (offg.).

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Department of Agriculture and Industries.

I have the honour to submit the following report on the administration of the Excise Department in the Presidency of Bengal for the year 1923-24.

Mr. S. C. Mukerjee, I.C.S., held charge of the department from the 1st April to 14th September 1923 and Mr. G. P. Hogg, M.A., I.C.S., from the 15th September 1923 to the end of the year.

* * * *

4. Administrative changes and reforms.—(1) Under Government Notification No. 112 T.A.I.-Ex., dated the 23rd April 1923, the duty on ganja was raised from Rs. 20 to Rs. 21 per seer with effect from the 1st May 1923.

* * * * *

(3) Under Government Notifications No. 2876, dated the 1st August 1923, and No. 4678, dated the 15th November 1923, the rates of duty on country spirit were enhanced in several areas of the Presidency owing to changes in the rates of cost price.

* * * *

(5) Under Government Notification No. 1018 T.A.I., dated the 8th September 1923, a fee of Rs. 3 has been fixed for each palmyra or cocoanut palm tree and a fee of Rs. 2 for each date tree for the tapping of which a license is applied for under the tree-tax system.

* * * *

(7) Under Government Notification No. 1166T.A.I., dated the 9th October 1923, the rate of license fees for the home-brewing of pachwai was fixed at Rs. 2 per household in the districts of the 24-Parganas, Dacca, Mymensingh, Tippera, Rangpur, Bogra, Pabna, Jalpaiguri (outside the boundaries of tea gardens) and Darjeeling. The rate of license fees for home-brewing of pachwai in the districts of Rajshahi, Dinajpur and Malda remains unchanged at Rs. 1-8 per household.

* * * *

(12) In order to give effect to the decision of the League of Nations in connection with the International Opium Convention held at Hague in 1912, the following additional restrictions have been imposed on transactions in dangerous drugs in Bengal:—

(a) Under Government Notifications Nos. 526 and 527 T.A.I., dated the 28th May 1924, the sale of morphia and cocaine on prescription for the use of the prescriber himself has been prohibited. Prescriptions which have to be retained by the licensed dispenser or chemist under the rules have been ordered to be preserved at least for one year after the period of currency of the license has expired.

(b) Under Government Notifications Nos. 2602 Ex., and 2603 Ex., dated the 12th July 1923, some medicinal preparations containing morphia and opium have been added to the list of exempted preparations.

(c) The Government of India, in their Finance Department, letter No. 1036, dated the 21st April 1924, prescribed that under the order of the High Commissioner for India an import certificate will in future be required for all kinds of medicinal preparations containing morphia and opium notwithstanding that some of them may, under the regulations of the Indian Government, be imported into India without license.

5. Temperance teaching in schools.—The existing text-books on Hygiene recommended for use in the middle and upper primary stages of high and middle English schools and in the upper two classes of middle vernacular schools in this Presidency contain lessons on Temperance. The curriculum for primary schools does not provide for such lessons.

6. Temperance movements.—As a result of an anti-Excise agitation which was started in the district of Bankura in the year 1922-23, consumers were persuaded to boycott the licensed premises in the Raipur and Khatra circles and 12 pachwai shops in the Raipur Circle could not be settled in consequence. The only effect of the movement, however, was to drive the people into having recourse to illicit practices, the facilities for which are very considerable in this part of the district. The situation was met by the establishment of a patrol party consisting of a petty officer and 4 peons, with the result that most of the shops remaining unsettled were settled during the year under report. The agitation was directed principally against Government, and can hardly be described as a genuine temperance movement. In Hooghly a temperance movement was started among the bagdis which was chiefly directed against the drinking of tari. The local missionaries organized a temperance movement in the Berhampore town and held meetings, but the propaganda has had no appreciable effect on consumption so far. In Bakarganj the ratepayers and the members of the Social Service League convened meetings for removing liquor shops beyond the municipal area. The local papers took up the cause, and an agitation to this effect was started with the help of some leading men of the town, and reports of the activities displayed were also sent to some of the Calcutta daily papers. An attempt was made to keep back educated bhadralogs from taking up any Excise licenses. On the other hand a petition signed by some 90 rate-payers was submitted protesting against the proposed removal of liquor shops beyond the municipal boundary upon the ground that the effect of the proposal would be to remove the shops from under the immediate control of the police and excise staff and would tend to promote illicit practices. The proposal was not taken up by the Excise Advisory Committee. The temperance movement organized at Teknaff in the district of Chittagong continued during the year. The result was that opium was consumed in moderation. In the district of Dinajpur an organization was started by Congressmen to induce the local Santals to give up drinking pachwai. The movement resulted in a decrease of revenue. It is difficult to say, however, whether there was a corresponding decrease in consumption. There were sporadic cases of social boycott of persons either trading in excisable articles or consuming them in the district of Malda.

7. Excise Licensing Boards.—In view of the amalgamation of the municipalities of Cossipore-Chitpur, Maniktola and Garden Reach with that of Calcutta with effect from the 1st April 1924, Government in their letter No. 1353, dated the 15th March 1924, accepted the recommendation of the Calcutta Licensing Board that the existing Licensing Boards for the Cossipore-Chitpur and Maniktola municipalities be absorbed in the Calcutta Licensing Board and a special representative of each of these two municipalities and of the municipality of Garden Reach be added to the Calcutta Licensing Board.

The Calcutta Board held 8 meetings during the year, the Howrah and Maniktola Boards three meetings and the Cossipore-Chitpur and Bally Boards two meetings each. The Calcutta Licensing Board sanctioned changes of sites of five foreign liquor, 2 country spirit and one ganja shop. They also decided upon the abolition of two country spirit, two tari, four foreign liquor, one opium and one restaurant license with effect from the 1st April 1924. The Board granted two new restaurant licenses from the 1st April 1924 restricting the hours of sales from 1 P.M. to 10 P.M. A new foreign liquor (public) license was also sanctioned.

The Howrah Licensing Board sanctioned a change of site of a foreign liquor " off " license and of a country spirit shop and decided upon the abolition of a country spirit shop.

The Maniktola Licensing Board sanctioned a change of site of a country spirit shop.

The Bally and Cossipore-Chitpur Licensing Boards after due consideration of all objections and the opinions of local bodies, sanctioned the existing number and location of shops for the retail vend of excisable articles in their respective jurisdictions. The first named Board rejected a petition of objection against the site of a tari shop and the latter Board refused an application for a foreign liquor " public " license.

8. Excise Advisory Committees.—In areas outside the Calcutta district, local Excise Advisory Committees were convened to advise the Collectors as regards the number and location of the excise and opium shops. All their recommendations were carefully considered and most of them were given effect to. Nine country spirit, two ganja, one bhang, 3 tari and six pachwai shops were abolished; the sites of twelve country spirit, four ganja, three opium, one bhang, six tari, eleven pachwai and one foreign liquor shop were changed and two country spirit, eight ganja, eleven opium, four bhang, two pachwai and one foreign liquor shop were opened in accordance with their recommendations.

11. Actual receipts.—Deducting the advance collections (Rs. 83,431) for 1924-25 and adding the revenue (Rs. 65,310), which was collected in advance in 1922-23, the actual receipts on account of 1923-24 were Rs. 2,09,47,964 against Rs. 2,01,03,212 (after similar adjustment) of the preceding year, showing an increase of Rs. 8,44,752 or 4·2 per cent.

12. Excise charges — * *

* * * The total expenditure of the Excise and Salt Department, excluding refunds, shows a decrease of Rs. 1,86,893 as compared with 1922-23. The decrease occurred under all the heads except " Construction and repairs to buildings ". The decrease under head " Salaries and establishment " was due to the abolition of the post of a Deputy Commissioner and to a gradual reduction in the number of Superintendents. The decrease under " Allowances " was due to restriction of tours owing to the travelling allowance having had to be rationed to a certain fixed scale. The decrease under " Rewards " was due to the adoption of the new system of granting rewards recommended in the concluding portion of paragraph 27 of the Report of the Bengal Retrenchment Committee. The decrease under " Contingencies and special charges " was mainly due to the fact that very few repairs were done to the boats and cutters attached to the department.

13. Revenue under different heads.—

* * * *

Revenue increased under all the heads, except " Duty on wines and spirits manufactured in India and excised at the tariff rates " and " License fees for sale of opium ". The largest increase of revenue (Rs. 4,50,433) occurred under the head " Country spirit ". " Total receipts from hemp drugs " come next with an increase of Rs. 3,40,893 followed by " Pachwai " (Rs. 2,70,075). Then follow " Total receipts from commercial spirits, including medicated wines " (Rs. 55,322), " License fees for sale of foreign liquors generally, whether imported or manufactured in India " (Rs. 32,072), " Net gain on issues of Excise Opium " (Rs. 11,781), " Tari " (Rs. 9,671). The largest decrease (Rs. 3,23,866) occurred under " Duty on wines and spirits manufactured in India and excised at tariff rates " followed by " License fees for sale of opium " (Rs. 5,753).

14. Demand and collection.— * * * * Of the gross demand of Rs. 2,10,07,627, a sum of Rs. 2,09,66,085 or 99·8 per cent. was realised. Rupees 4,146 was remitted as irrecoverable.

Taking the population of the Presidency of Bengal, according to the census of 1921, to be 46,522,293, the incidence of excise revenue (exclusive of revenue derived from issues of excisable articles to other provinces, Native States and foreign countries) was 7 annas 1 pie against 6 annas 9 pies in the previous year.

15. Results of settlement for the current year up to 31st May 1924.—

* * * *

* * The settlements for the current year 1924-25 show a net increase of Rs. 4,58,882. The results under the different heads are as follows :—

		Rs.
Country spirit	..	+25,500
Foreign liquor	..	+45,388
Fermented tari	..	+56,213
Pachwai retail	..	+1,75,050
Opium	..	+950
Hemp drugs	..	+1,55,781

The figures under the heads " Country spirit," " Foreign liquor," " Opium " and " Hemp drugs " can only be regarded as an estimate, as the license fees under these heads for the current year will depend on the current year's consumption. The settlements show a general increase in the license fees under all the heads. The better working of pachwai shops under the fixed-fee system particularly in the Asansol subdivision of the Burdwan district and also in Birbhum contributed to the increase under the head " Pachwai ". The entire absence of picketing of excise shops has resulted in a general increase in the consumption of excisable articles and a consequent increase in the excise revenue.

SECTION II.—Country Liquor.

COUNTRY SPIRIT.

17. System of supply.—The Contract Supply System continued in force throughout the year.

18. Country Spirit licenses.—The number of licenses for the sale of country spirit was 970 as compared with 978 in 1922-23 showing a decrease of 8 licenses. Two shops each in Bankura, Mymensingh and Bakarganj, and one each in Dacca and Howrah were abolished as the demand for liquor was small. A shop in Calcutta remained closed for want of a suitable site and was eventually abolished. One shop in Jessore and two in Faridpur were abolished on the recommendation of the Advisory Committees. Three shops which could not be settled in the previous year were opened in the district of Midnapore during the year under report. With the approval of the Local Excise Advisory Committee and the Nepal and Sikkim Darbars a new shop was opened in the district of Darjeeling at a large trade centre at Lodoma.

19. The Fixed-Fee System in Calcutta.—The system continued to work well. Country spirit yielded, as usual, the largest percentage of revenue, viz., 54·36 of total demand. There was a drop in consumption amounting to 3,607·5 L. P. gallons during the year. The decreased consumption was due to trade depression and resulted in a corresponding decrease in revenue.

20. The Fixed-Fee System in other districts.—The Bengal fixed-fee system was in force in all the districts of the Presidency throughout the year. The system has worked well. The successful working of the system depends a great deal on a judicious selection of licensees and it is satisfactory to note that District Officers are taking more interest in the selection of licensees. Dilution by vendors is less common as a result of frequent surprise visits and trial purchases. The conduct of the vendors was generally satisfactory. On the whole consumption has increased owing to better supervision and to the absence of the non-co-operation movement.

21. Consumption.—The total consumption of country spirit in the Presidency amounted to 621,183 proof gallons as compared with 593,355·6 proof gallons in the preceding year showing an increase of 27,827·4 proof gallons.

Consumption increased in twenty-two districts and decreased in five. In the district of Tippera there was an increase of 1,445 proof gallons or 28·1 per cent. which is attributed to improved trade conditions. The district of Dacca shows an increase of 2,829 proof gallons or 24·08 per cent. which is ascribed to an exceptionally large number of marriages amongst the native Christians. There was an increase of 3,554 proof gallons or 22·8 per cent. in the Jalpaiguri district which was principally due to the detection of a number of illicit distillation cases on the tea gardens and also to the detection of some cases of smuggling of excisable articles from Cooch Behar In Bankura, the increase was 3,229 proof gallons or 17 3 per cent. It was due to the improved condition of the labouring classes following upon a boom in the lac trade.

The increased consumption in the districts of Mymensingh (2,370 proof gallons or 17·3 per cent.), Faridpur (468 proof gallons or 13·2 per cent.) and Bakarganj (397 proof gallons or 11·8 per cent.) was due to the gradual cessation of picketing of excise shops by non-co-operators. An increase of 4,576 proof gallons or 11·6 per cent. in the Hooghly district is attributed to closer supervision over excise shops and to an increase in the drinking population. In Khulna there was an increase of 569 proof gallons or 11·3 per cent. due to a good harvest and in Pabna the increase of 611 proof gallons or 10·9 per cent. was due to the gradual dying out of the anti-drink movement.

As stated already there was a decrease in consumption by 3,607 5 proof gallons or 28·9 per cent. in Calcutta owing to bad trade conditions. Outside Calcutta decrease in consumption occurred in four districts but in no case did the decrease exceed 3 per cent.

22. Total revenue from country spirit.—The total revenue—license and distillery fees and duty from country spirit—was Rs 98,69,933 against Rs.94,19,500, an increase by Rs.4,50,433 The revenue derived from duty and distiliery fees increased by Rs. 4,09,545 and that from license fees increased by Rs. 40,888.

23. Conviction for drunkenness and action taken against licensees for permitting it.— * * *

* * * * In Calcutta 4,586 persons were convicted of drunkenness as compared with 6,215 persons in the previous year, but no statistics were taken to show what proportions of these cases were due to country spirit, tari and foreign liquor respectively. The Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, attributes this decrease principally to the increased price of liquor and to the high cost of living, and partially to unemployment. In the district of Birbhum a drug vendor was punished by cancellation of his license for permitting disorderly conduct in or near his shop premises. In the same district a pachwai vendor was similarly dealt with for allowing disorderly conduct and keeping prostitutes in his shop.

24. Distilleries and Warehouses.—There was no change in the number of contract distillers. The cost price of country spirit was fixed for Messrs. D. Waldie & Co., at Re. 1-9 per L. P. gallon and of Messrs. Carew & Co., at Re. 1-8-0 per L. P. gallon and of Haji Ismail Sait & Sons at Re. 1-7 per L. P. gallon from 1st July 1923 to 30th June 1924. The cost price of country spirit supplied by Messrs. Carew & Co., was raised to Re. 1-10 and of Messrs. D. Waldie & Co., to Re. 1-11 from 1st November 1923, as the firms represented that the prices originally fixed were too low. The compensation which was being paid to Messrs. Carew & Co., in the shape of an addition to the cost price of seven annas per L. P. gallon came to a close during the year while that of Messers Haji Ismail Sait & Sons continued to be paid, as the amount sanctioned in their case had not been reached. The three tube-wells sunk by the distillers at Russa last year supplied only a part of the total requirement of water. The distillery has still to depend largely on the water drawn from Tolly's Nullah As regards the new sewer at Russa mentioned in the previous year it is not yet ready for use, but it is hoped it will be ready for use soon when the problem of the disposal of spent-wash will be finally solved.

On several occasions the supplies from the distilleries to the bonded warehouses fell short of the prescribed minimum, but no inconvenience was felt in supplying the retail vendors.

TARI.

25. General.—During the year under review licenses for the retail sale of fermented tari were settled by public auction, except the licenses of the shops in the Calcutta district and of 54 shops in the 24-Parganas district and 11 shops in the Howrah district situated within a radius of 5 miles from Calcutta. The licenses of the shops in question were settled with selected vendors under a fixed-fee system which was introduced as an experimental measure with effect from the 1st May 1923. * *

* * * *

26. The Tree-tax System in Hooghly and Howrah.—The tree-tax system which was introduced in the Sadar and Serampore subdivisions of the Hooghly district and the whole of the Howrah district (with the exception of the areas included in the Calcutta district) in the year 1918-19 continued in the same areas during the year under report.

In Hooghly there was no difficulty in settling the shops. Although the tree-tax system is said to be unpopular with the vendors, it has nevertheless succeeded in its two main objects, viz., (i) of introducing a more scientific system of taxation and (ii) of reducing drunkenness, of which a considerable amount is due to tari drinking.

The total number of tree-tapping licenses issued were as follows :—

	1922-23.	1923-24.
(1) Number issued on application of vendors ..	1,001	1,358
(2) Number issued to tappers on their own application	Nil	Nil
(3) Number issued to tree owners for domestic consumption ..	5,349	5,958

The tari revenue of the district rose by Rs. 24,851 owing to (1) the increase in license fees and (2) the increase in tree-tax under the head " Domestic consumption " consequent upon the enhancement of the rate of tree-tax on palmyra trees from Rs. 2 to Rs. 3 with effect from the 1st October 1923. The 4 shops in the Arambagh subdivision had, as in the previous year, to be settled at lower license fees owing to floods.

It is reported that in consequence of the removal of all unnecessary restrictions on the drawing of fresh tari, a large number of " shewlis " or professional tappers visited the district during the year for the purpose of manufacturing molasses from fresh tari.

In Howrah also there was no difficulty in settling the shops under the tree-tax system.

The number of tree-tapping licenses issued were :—

	1922-23.	1923-24.
(1) Number issued on application of vendors ..	1,989	1,395
(2) Number issued to tappers on their own application	Nil	Nil
(3) Number issued to tree owners for domestic consumption ..	6,226	8,052

The tari revenue of the district shows an increase of Rs. 10,409. The increase is due to the settlement of tari shops at higher license fees as well as to the increase in tree-tax under the head " Domestic consumption " consequent upon the enhancement of the rate of tree-tax on palmyra trees from Rs. 2 to Rs. 3. The receipts under the head " Tree-tax " were Rs. 56,657 against Rs. 50,308 in the previous year. Out of this amount, Rs. 26,225 were paid by tree owners for domestic consumption against Rs. 18,472 paid in the previous year.

27. Statistics.—The total receipts under head " tari " increased from Rs. 4,74,116 to Rs. 4,83,787.

The number of retail tari licenses decreased from 568 to 564. The decrease occurred in the districts of Midnapore, Hooghly, Rangpur and Malda by one license each and in the district of Chittagong by two, whilst there was an increase of one license in each of the districts of Nadia and Bogra. The bulk of the tari revenue was derived from the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions and the district of Malda, which taken together contributed Rs. 4,57,007 out of the total revenue under this head of Rs. 4,83,787. This amount includes Rs. 35,415 and Rs. 15,566 as license fees and Rs. 48,292 and Rs. 56,657 on account of tree-tax for the districts of Hooghly and Howrah respectively. The increase was most marked in Hooghly (Rs. 24,851), Howrah (Rs. 10,409), Midnapore (Rs. 8,482), Murshidabad (Rs. 5,061), whilst there was a decrease of Rs. 30,638 and Rs. 26,042 in Calcutta and the 24-Parganas respectively.

PACHWAI.

28. Licenses.— The total number of licenses issued for retail sale, home-brewing (annual), and manufacture of pachwai on special occasions was 23,049 as compared with 29,157 in 1922-23 :—

	1922-23.	1923-24.
Retail sale	1,182	1,201
Home-brewing (annual) ..	27,484	21,373
Manufacture on special occasions	491	475

29. Fixed-fee system.—The Bengal fixed-fee system which was introduced in the latter part of the year 1919-20 continued to work satisfactorily in the Asansol subdivision of the district of Burdwan. Of the total pachwai revenue of Rs. 8,26,171 of this district, Asansol subdivision alone contributed Rs. 6,87,672, the balance Rs. 1,38,499 being collected from the Sadar, Katwa and Kalna subdivisions of the district.

From 1st April 1922 this system was extended to the larger shops in the remaining portions of the Burdwan district, and to the more important shops in the districts of Birbhum, Bankura, Midnapore, Hooghly, Murshidabad and Darjeeling as reported last year.

During the year under report the fixed-fee system had to be abolished altogether and the auction system re-introduced in the district of Murshidabad on account of the unsatisfactory working of the system in the previous year owing to the following causes: (1) inadequate excise staff for thorough supervision and (2) the shops being surrounded by several non-fixed-fee shops generally owned by the relations of fixed-fee vendors.

30. Revenue.—The revenue from retail license fees increased from Rs. 10,69,215 to Rs. 13,48,564. Pachwai occupies the first place in respect of Excise revenue in the districts of Burdwan and Birbhum. The increase was considerable in Burdwan (Rs. 1,05,547), Birbhum (Rs. 92,188), Bankura (Rs. 40,407), Hooghly (Rs. 13,106), Murshidabad (Rs. 12,730), and Midnapore (Rs. 11,930). In the district of Burdwan, the increase was principally due to the successful working of the pachwai shops under the fixed-fee system.

The only decrease (Rs. 372) occurred in the district of Darjeeling.

The revenue from home-brewing license decreased from Rs. 46,328 to Rs. 37,054. In Dinajpur, the decrease was due to (1) bad harvests, and to (2) the aboriginals having joined an organization which prohibits the use of intoxicants. In Rangpur the decrease is ascribed to (1) enhancement of license fees per household from Rs. 1-8 to Rs. 2, and (2) to an exodus of a large number of aboriginals to the district of Purnea in Behar as a result of the general scarcity prevailing amongst the local people owing to drought. In Malda, the revenue realized this year is almost the same as in the preceding year. The main reason for this is the partial failure of the paddy crop.

SECTION III.—Foreign Liquor.

32. Clearances of foreign liquor from the Custom Houses, Calcutta and Chittagong.—The following statistics showing clearances on payment of duty, both direct and from bond, from Custom Houses are quoted from statements furnished by the Collectors of Customs, Calcutta and Chittagong:—

	1922-23.		1923-24.
	Calcutta.	Chittagong.	Calcutta.	Chittagong.

The Collector of Customs, Calcutta, explains the statistics for the Port of Calcutta in 1923-24 as follows:—

Ale, beer and porter.—Germany improved her business, pushing her sales from 173,920 to 314,288 gallons. The United Kingdom's hold on this market weakened from 510,624 to 469,348 gallons; Japan lost further ground, her supplies declining from 67,043 to 50,330 gallons; supplies from the Netherlands were at much the same figure as last year, 24,826 gallons against 24,350.

Spirits.—Imports of brandy rose both from France and the United Kingdom. The former despatched 59,081 liquid gallons as against 39,769 and the latter 4,038 against 2,145 in the previous year. It is worthy of notice that the value has dropped, due mainly to the French exchange position, but a tendency has also been shown to import cheaper brands. Less whisky was imported, receipts from the United Kingdom declining from 198,652 to 177,827 gallons, while the falling-off in imports of rum and of rum

"denatured" on arrival was due to a decline in supplies from Java. Of other descriptions there were slight increases under gin, liqueurs, spirits present in drugs and medicines, perfumed spirit and flavouring essences.

Wines.—The slight improvement recorded was due to increased imports of champagne, still red wines other than port and white wines other than sherry.

The Customs Department have kindly furnished the following statistics of imports and issues on payment of duty of portable foreign spirits at the Calcutta Custom House :—

Year.	Imported (L. P. gallons).				Issued on payment of duty (L. P. gallons).

WINES AND SPIRITS (OTHER THAN MEDICATED WINES AND COMMERCIAL SPIRITS) AND BEER.

34. Licenses and revenue.—The total number of licenses issued for wholesale and retail vend was 1,046 against 778 in the preceding year. There were increases under heads, "Retail off" (5), "Temporary bars" (82), "Late closing" (186), and "Dining cars" (7); and decreases under heads, "Wholesale" (2), "Retail on" (1), "Railway refreshment rooms" (4), "Steamers" (3), and "Dak-bungalows" (2).

The total receipts from license fees were Rs. 2,74,698 against Rs. 2,42,626 in the previous year. The increase in license fees is due, apparently to improved working under the Bengal Fixed-Fee System introduced in the case of foreign liquors last year.

The receipts from duty were Rs. 9,97,876 against Rs. 13,21,742 in the previous year. The decrease in duty was due to the fact that a smaller quantity of Indian-made foreign liquor was used for blending and bottling purposes.

35. Rum and other potable foreign liquors manufactured in India.—The following quantities of rum manufactured in India were issued during the year from distilleries and Excise warehouses in Bengal :—

Place of manufacture.	Issued on payment of duty.	Issued at the concession rate of duty.	Issued duty free.
	L. P. gallons.	L. P. gallons.	L. P. gallons.

Russa	156	.. ..	....
Asansol	3,743	....	....

No brandy or whisky was issued during the year.

Duty-free issues of Konnagore rum were made to the Medical College and Campbell Hospitals, Sambhu Nath Pandit Hospital and Police Hospital, Calcutta, and General Hospital, Howrah.

Twenty-five L. P. gallons of Shahjehanpur rum were issued at the concession rate of duty to the Officer Commanding, the Eastern Frontier Rifles at Hooghly.

36. Locally manufactured beer.—The two breweries licensed in the preceding year continued during the year under report. The Victoria Brewery at Sonada had an outturn of 21,135 gallons of beer during the year, of which 14,466 gallons were sold to the Military authorities and 6,669 gallons to the public. Owing to the difficulty in obtaining barley and hops, the brewery at St. Mary's Seminary, Kurseong, remained closed throughout the year, though a license was taken by the Procurator.

Duty was charged on 21,135 gallons against 20,167 gallons in the preceding year.

Receipts from license fees and duty amounted to Rs. 11,372 against Rs. 10,514 in the previous year.

MEDICATED WINES AND RECTIFIED SPIRIT.

37. Licenses and revenue.—The number of licenses for the retail sale of medicated wines and rectified spirits were 153 and 34, respectively, as compared with 150 and 38 in the previous year. The revenue from license fees was Rs. 9,350 against Rs. 9,250 in the preceding year.

38. Manufacture and issue of rectified spirits.—Rectified spirits were manufactured in the distilleries at Asansol, Konnagore, Russa, and Bahir-Mirzapur Road, Calcutta.

The following quantities of rectified spirits were issued during the year for medicinal, industrial, and scientific purposes, from distilleries and Excise warehouses in Bengal:—

Place of manufacture.	On payment of duty.	Duty free.	For manufacture of tinctures and absolute alcohol in bonded laboratories.
	L. P. gallons.	L. P. gallons.	L. P. gallons.
Asansol	5,884	6,585	56,589
Konnagore	....	2,139	....
Russa	26,558	389	3,081
Bahir-Mirzapur	2,280	164	8,561

Besides the above quantities, 5,240 gallons of rectified spirit manufactured in Asansol and 3,330 gallons of rectified spirit manufactured in Russa were issued at the concession rate of Rs. 5 per L. P. gallon for medicinal, scientific and industrial purposes to other than bonded manufacturers. Duty-free issues of rectified spirit manufactured in Asansol were made to the Officer-in-charge, Mathematical Instrument Office, to the Director, Zoological Survey of India to the Director, Botanical Survey of India, to the Superintendent, Ammunition Factory, Dum Dum, to the Superintendent, Ammunition Factory, Kirkee, to the Officer-in-charge, Government Medical Store Depôt and to the Collector of Excise, Calcutta. Similar issues of spirit were also made from the Konnagore distillery to the Medical Storekeeper, Calcutta, and to the Health Officer, Darjeeling, and from the Russa distillery to the Ammunition Factory, Dum Dum, to the Fibre Expert, Dacca, to the Controller of Printing, Stationery and Stamps, to the Agricultural Chemist, Dacca, to the Dacca University and to the Agricultural Chemist to the Government of Bihar and Orissa, Sabour; also from Bahir Mirzapur distillery to the Calcutta Corporation Laboratory, to the University College of Science and to the Principal, Bethune College, Calcutta.

39. Manufacture of tinctures, etc.—Five bonded laboratories manufactured tinctures, etc., during the year under report. In addition to the four laboratories, that worked during the preceding year, a new bonded laboratory was opened by H. S. Abdul Gunny at Dum Dum on the 1st February 1924. Duty was paid on 42,580 L. P. gallons of spirit contained in tinctures and medicinal preparations issued from the five laboratories while medicinal preparations containing 13,521 proof gallons of spirit were issued duty free to the charitable dispensaries and hospitals in the various provinces.

The duty realised on tinctures issued was Rs. 2,12,900.

SECTION IV—Hemp Drugs.

GANJA.

45. Retail licenses.—The total number of licenses issued in the Presidency for the retail sale of ganja was 1,193 as compared with 1,184 in 1922-23. Three new shops were opened in the 24-Parganas district, two in Jessore, and one in each of the districts of Burdwan, Midnapore, Murshidabad, Khulna and Pabna with the approval of the Advisory Committees concerned, to meet legitimate demands. A shop was abolished in Faridpur as being unnecessary. The license fees realized amounted to Rs. 24,09,931 against Rs. 22,63,185 in the previous year.

46. Consumption of ganja.—The total quantity of ganja consumed in the Presidency amounted to 1,665 maunds 19 seers as compared with 1,588 maunds

21 seers in 1922-23, an increase of 76 maunds 38 seers. Consumption increased in twenty-one districts and decreased in six. The greater part of the increase occurred in the Dacca, Burdwan and Chittagong Divisions. The increase exceeded 10 per cent. in three districts, viz., Dacca, Mymensingh and Pabna, and 20 per cent in Howrah (11¾ maunds or 35 61) and Tippera (12 maunds or 24·94). Other districts in which a large increase also occurred are 24-Parganas (8 maunds 23 seers) and Rangpur (5 maunds 21 seers). The increase in Dacca is reported to be due to an influx of up-country coolies owing to the prevalence of distress in their home districts. The withdrawal of picketing accounted for the increased consumption in Pabna. The main reason for the abnormal increase in Mymensingh is said to be the opening of the new railway line connecting the north-east and south-east portions of the district with the Assam Bengal Railway and the Eastern Bengal Railway lines which has stimulated the jute and other business with a consequent influx of large number of up-country coolies who are fond of the drug. The influx of labourers owing to the extension of railway lines within the mill areas and improvement in the brick business at places lying within Uluberia and Sadar subdivisions is said to be the main cause of the increase in Howrah. The increase in Tippera is reported to be due to stoppage of smuggling and to the strict watch kept over the borders of Tripura State and Sylhet The increase in consumption in the 24-Parganas is due to the stoppage of non-co-operation movement, starting of new mills in the Barrackpore subdivision and consequent increase in mill population and better preventive work The cessation of non-co-operation agitation and better economic conditions account for the increased consumption in Rangpur

The decrease exceeded 5 per cent only in two districts Dinajpur (4¾ maunds or 9 81) and Calcutta (20 maunds or 6·72). The fall in consumption in Dinajpur is reported to be due to bad condition of the agriculturists and labourers, who are the principal consumers of the drug. The drop in Calcutta by 20 maunds is ascribed to the bad quality of ganja supplied from Naogaon Considering the population of Calcutta, which is a floating one, it is not always possible to account for the small fluctuations in consumption.

47. Total revenue.—The receipts for the year totalled Rs. 39,27,475 against Rs 36,62,432 in the preceding year, the net increase being Rs. 2,65,043. The revenue from license fees increased by Rs 1,46,746 and that from duty by Rs 1,18,297. The increase exceeded Rs 50,000 in Mymensingh (Rs. 72,166) and Rs. 40,000 in Dacca (Rs. 47,420), and Tippera (Rs. 40,554). The only districts in which revenue decreased were Calcutta (Rs 61,818), Dinajpur (Rs. 6,812) and Rajshahi (Rs. 2,728).

48. Incidence of Taxation.—The incidence of license fee per seer of ganja consumed was Rs 36 2 and that of duty Rs. 21 The total taxation was Rs. 57 2 per seer as compared with Rs. 55·8 in the previous year.

51 Cultivation and outturn of Ganja at Naogaon in Rajshahi.—The continuance of high prices caused a further increase in the number of applications for permission to cultivate ganja. Four thousand four hundred and seventeen applications were received for an area of 7,216 bighas against 3,857 applications for an area of 7,019 bighas in 1922-23 The area sanctioned during 1923-24 was 2,900 bighas. Three thousand six hundred and eighty-one applications covering an area of 2,899 bighas 16 cottahs were granted as compared with 3,133 licenses covering an area of 3,199 bighas and 16 cottahs in the previous year The area actually under ganja cultivation was 2,920 bighas 11 cottahs and 5 chitaks against 2,891 bighas 17 cottahs in the preceding year. The area under cultivation was strictly tested as in previous years and, as a result, a very large number of cases of change of plots and cultivation of ganja on deficit or excess areas were detected. All these cases, it has been reported, were dealt with under section 65 of the Bengal Excise Act.

The prospects of the crop were satisfactory at the beginning, but want of rain was felt in December and irrigation had to be resorted to. Although red spiders appeared in some fields, the damage done was not appreciable and the outturn was the highest on record in the last decade, the average per bigha being 2 maunds 38 seers and 6 chitaks. The total quantity of ganja stored in the public golas amounted to 8,641 maunds 12 seers and 6 chitaks against 4,761 maunds 2 seers and 13 chitaks in the preceding season.

BHANG.

56. Licenses and Revenue.—There were 307 retail licenses for the sale of bhang in the year under report against 266 in the previous year. Thirty-eight new licenses were granted in Midnapore and one each in Birbhum, the 24-Parganas, Jessore, Faridpur and Noakhali with the approval of the Advisory Committees to meet local demand and to stop illicit traffic in the drug in places where wild bhang grows profusely. The granting of 38 new licenses in Midnapore does not mean that 38 entirely new shops were opened in the district. What was done was to grant licenses for sale of bhang in places licensed for sale of ganja and opium. The comparatively innocuous nature of this drug, its mild intoxicating effect and the general demand for it by all classes during festivals, are the reasons which made it advisable to grant so many new licenses. Two shops were abolished in Dacca as being unnecessary. The total number of druggists' permits issued was 433 as compared with 417 in the preceding year.

Eight licenses in Bengal Excise and Salt Department Form No. 40A were also issued to Kavirajes (six in Dacca and two in Darjeeling) for the collection, possession and use of green bhang for bonâ fide medicinal purposes. There was a noticeable increase in the number of druggists' permits issued in the Presidency (10) and Dacca (10) Divisions. The amount of revenue concerned is, however, trifling. The vend fees of bhang shops are also very small as these shops are generally settled with other drug shops of the same locality. The total revenue from license fees and duty amounted to Rs. 1,79,361 as compared with Rs. 1,80,643, in 1922-23, a decrease of Rs. 1,282 though there was an increase in consumption by over 26 maunds. Increased revenue with decreased consumption is a feature of the Bengal Fixed-Fee System, but in Calcutta and Midnapore the case was exactly the reverse. The Collector of Excise, Calcutta, reports that although there was an increase in consumption by 4 maunds 24 seers there was a drop in license fees due to a fall in sales in the bigger shops which paid a higher incidence of license fees in the previous year. The realization of a large amount of advance fees in 1922-23 accounted for the nominal decrease in Midnapore.

57. Consumption.—The principal demand for bhang, as in the previous year, was confined to most of the Western Bengal districts. In Eastern Bengal, Dacca was the only district where there was any appreciable issue of the drug. In other districts in the Presidency, the consumption was very small.

The drug is popular chiefly with the up-country people in Bengal, who use it in the preparation of a drink, and its sale in other cases is generally confined to religious occasions. It is also used in the preparation of Kaviraji medicines. The total consumption in the Presidency amounted to 477 maunds 20 seers as compared with 451 maunds 2 seers in the previous year, an increase of 26 maunds 18 seers. The increase exceeded 5 maunds in Midnapore (7 maunds 24 seers) and 24-Parganas (6 maunds 35 seers). The Collector of Midnapore reports that the increase in that district was partly due to agricultural prosperity and partly to the large number of new licenses issued during the year under report. As regards the increase in the 24-Parganas, it has been stated, that a marked fluctuation in the sales occurred in the Barrackpore subdivision, where up-country people are working in the industrial areas.

Three maunds and twenty seers of duty-paid bhang were exported from Hooghly to French Chandernagore, and only 2 chitaks of the drug were exported from Calcutta to Fiji Islands. Tippera supplied 38 seers of duty-paid bhang to the adjoining State of Tripura.

CHARAS.

58. Licenses and Revenue—Two wholesale licenses and thirty retail licenses were in force during the year, as in the preceding year. The total receipts amounted to Rs. 1,88,618 as compared with Rs. 1,08,161 in 1922-23, an increase of Rs. 80,457. The revenue from license fees increased by Rs. 55,146 and that from duty by Rs. 25,311.

59 Imports, exports and consumption.—The total quantity of charas imported into the Presidency was 52 maunds 11 seers against 31 maunds 33 seers in the preceding year. The wholesale dealers of Calcutta and Birbhum, as usual, imported the drug direct from the Punjab; other districts obtained their supplies from the dealers of Calcutta and Birbhum. Practically the wholesale dealers of Calcutta met the demand from almost all the districts of the Presidency in which charas is consumed.

The total issues to retail shops in the Presidency amounted to 52 maunds 24 seers as compared with 32 maunds 1 seer in the previous year, the excess of issues over the imports being met from the last year's balance. By far the greater portion of the drug is consumed in Calcutta, which alone accounts for 33 maunds 1 seer. There was a noticeable increase of 12 maunds 30 seers in Calcutta, which is reported to have been due to the fact that some ganja consumers resorted to charas owing to the inferior quality of ganja issued from Naugaon this year. This statement is borne out, to certain extent, by a decrease (20 maunds) in the consumption of ganja in the metropolis.

There was also a marked increase in consumption in Burdwan (3 maunds 5 seers) and in Birbhum (1 maund 6 seers).

The Collector of Burdwan reports that marked increase in the sales occurred in the Asansol subdivision, where up-country people, Punjabis, Peshwaris, are working in the industrial areas. The increase in Birbhum has been ascribed to the issue of bad quality of ganja from Naugaon; but this is not borne out by a corresponding decrease in the consumption of ganja. The increase is probably due, in some measure, to the absence of picketing of excise shops during the year.

The use of charas is practically confined to Western Bengal districts. In Eastern Bengal only three districts have licenses for its sale, viz., Dacca, Bakarganj and Dinajpur. The consumers of the drug, it appears, come from almost all sections of the community. Some district officers have reported that the drug is mostly used by the Punjabis, Peshwaris, Chittagonian lascars and up-country men of the labouring classes, while others have reported that its use is confined to the middle as well as well-to-do classes. The Collector of the 24-Parganas reports that it is generally consumed by the wealthy singers, jatra-walas, both male and female, and the members of the bhadralog class, who dislike the smell of ganja.

SECTION V.—Opium.

60. Restricted supply of opium.—Under this system the monthly issues of excise opium to retail shops are restricted, as far as possible, to the bonâ fide local demand, as ascertained by local inquiry and a study of the issues of preceding years. As in the previous year, all the shops in the districts of Midnapore, Hooghly, Howrah, the 24-Parganas, Calcutta, Khulna, Bakarganj, Faridpur, Chittagong, Noakhali, Tippera and Jalpaiguri, and a certain number of the shops in the districts of Burdwan, Nadia, Jessore, Darjeeling, Mymensingh, Murshidabad and Rajshahi worked under this system.

In addition to the above one shop in the Bankura district also worked under this system.

It was not found necessary to extend the system to any more shops during the year under report.

61. License for retail sale.—The total number of licenses issued for the retail sale of excise opium was 832 as compared with 824 in the previous year. Nine new shops were opened, viz., two each in the 24-Parganas, Jessore and Faridpur, and one each in Burdwan, Dacca and Tippera. On the other hand one shop was abolished in Mymensingh. All the new shops were opened with the approval of the Excise Advisory Committees concerned.

62. Permits and licenses under the Opium and Morphia Rules.—The total number of permits and licenses issued was 1,309 as compared with 1,298 in the previous year. The number includes 32 licenses issued to manufacturing chemists, 501 to dispensing chemists, 48 to Kabirajes and Hakims and 41 permits (total 622 for intoxicating drugs) and 34 licenses issued to dealers, 523 to chemists, 45 to persons approved under rules 21(1) and 21(2) of the Morphia Rules and 85 persons authorized under rule 22 of the same rules (total 687 for morphia drugs). Licenses under these rules were granted on the recommendations of the Civil Surgeons of the districts concerned and in Calcutta they were granted on the recommendation of the Health Officer to the Corporation of Calcutta.

63. Consumption.—The consumption of excise opium during the year was 997 maunds and 37 seers as compared with 1,006 maunds and 16 seers, showing a decrease of 8 maunds and 19 seers. The consumption increased in 19 districts and decreased in 8. The largest increases occurred in Jalpaiguri (64 seers or 25·3 per cent.), Tippera (53 seers or 15·7 per cent., and Bakarganj (118 seers or 10·3 per cent.). In Jalpaiguri the increase is ascribed to a rise in demand for opium owing to the influx of a large number of Assamese coolies in the tea gardens. The increases in Tippera and Bakarganj were mainly due to increased allotments having had to be made to some shops owing to an increase in the local demand.

The decrease in consumption did not exceed 10 per cent. in any of the districts, and calls for no special remarks.

64. Revenue.—The total receipts amounted to Rs. 31,89,198 as compared with Rs. 31,83,170 in 1922-23, showing an increase by Rs. 6,028.

65. Morphia and opium pills.—The use of morphia as a substitute for opium does not appear to have been prevalent in any of the districts.

* * * *

SECTION VI.—Cocaine.

68. Licenses and Revenue.—Three hundred and sixty-one licenses were issued during the year to chemists and druggists for the sale of cocaine as compared with 357 in 1922-23. Forty-six permits for the possession of cocaine were issued free to managers of hospitals or dispensaries not under Government supervision, viz., ten licenses for tea gardens in Jalpaiguri, ten for charitable dispensaries in Calcutta, nine in the 24-Parganas, five in Burdwan, four in Tippera, two in each of the districts of Midnapore, Nadia, and Noakhali, and one each in Khulna and Faridpur. Thirty-two permits were issued to qualified medical practitioners and dentists, viz., fifteen in Calcutta, nine in the 24-Parganas, four in Burdwan, three in Chittagong and one in Faridpur, for possession and use of the drug in course of their practice.

69. Preventive Operations and Illicit Transactions.—The abuse of cocaine continues in the Calcutta district and in the districts of the 24-Parganas and Burdwan. Five cases were also detected in Dacca. The number of persons convicted of illicit possession, sale, or smuggling of cocaine decreased from 284 to 257. In Calcutta, the number was 234 as compared with 265 in the previous year. An account of some important cocaine cases will be found in Section VII of the Report

The total quantity of cocaine seized in Bengal during the year was 1,730 oz. 231 grains as compared with 1,179 oz. 368½ grains in 1922-23. Only 13 ounces 310½ grains were seized outside the Calcutta district, and of this quantity, 3 oz. 139½ grains were seized in the 24-Parganas. In Calcutta, 47 oz. 112½ grains were seized by Excise officers, 1,630 oz. 590 grains by Customs officers and 37 oz. 351 grains by Police officers.

SECTION VII.—Offences against the Excise and Opium Laws.

71. Prosecutions and Convictions.—Including 125 cases pending in 1922-23, 5,230 cases were under trial during the year. Five thousand and sixty-five cases were disposed of, of which 4,857 or 95·9 per cent. ended in conviction. The percentage of cases ending in conviction to cases disposed of was 95·8 in cases instituted by Excise officers and 96·6 in cases instituted by other officers.

The total number of persons arrested during the year was 5,283 as compared with 5,799 in the preceding year. Of these, 4,929 were convicted during the year against 5,409 in 1922-23. The number of arrests increased in 12 out of the 27 districts in this Presidency. This increase was most marked in Jalpaiguri (130) and Birbhum (53). On the other hand there was a decrease in 15 districts, the largest decreases being in the 24-Parganas (153), Hooghly (93), Calcutta (91), Bankura (87), Darjeeling (73) and Dinajpur (72) districts.

The increase in Jalpaiguri was due to the detection of a large number of cases of illicit distillation of liquor in tea-gardens and also to the detection of some cases of smuggling of excisable articles from Cooch Behar. No reasons have been assigned for the increase in Birbhum and the decreases in the 24-Parganas and Darjeeling. In Hooghly the decrease was mainly due to a decrease in the importation of French liquor from Chandernagore on account of the vigilant watch kept by the patrol staff stationed on the borders. The decrease in Calcutta was due mainly to the general slump in the illicit traffic of opium on account of the deportation of several notorious smugglers, who were really the leaders and harbourers of the Goondas of Calcutta, due to the enforcement of Goonda Act. In Bankura the anti-drink agitation, which was inaugurated in the previous year, died out during the year under report, with the result that the local people did not resort to illicit practices to the same extent as they did last year. The patrol party established in thana Ranibandh, though it did not detect any cases, helped to keep down excise offences. In Darjeeling and Dinajpur the decrease occurred principally under the head illicit manufacture, sale and possession of pachwai. In the latter district the decrease was due to the fact that some of the aboriginal tribes of the district have joined an organization which prohibits the use of intoxicants.

72. Classification of Offences.—Five hundred and sixteen persons were arrested for " illicit distillation " and 268 for " possession or sale of illicit country spirit " as compared with 618 and 230 respectively in the preceding year. The noticeable increase under these two heads taken together occurred in one district (Jalpaiguri—80) only. The chief decreases were in Bankura (81), Hooghly (33), Darjeeling (15), Midnapore (13) and Mymensingh (13). The reasons for the increase or decrease have already been stated in paragraph 71 above. In Bankura, the local facilities in the shape of extensive jungles in the Raipur, Khatra and Taldangra circles afforded the local people ample opportunities of resorting to illicit distillation. The fact that such manufacture usually takes place in jungles and other secluded places, makes detection all the more difficult. In Midnapore, where similar conditions obtain in some parts of the district, illicit distillation of spirit from Mohua flowers and occasionally from Molasses continued to be the commonest form of Excise Crime. The aborigines and semi-aborigines, occupying the jungle areas, are by their nature and temperament peculiarly lawless in Excise matters. In the villages surrounding the Midnapore and Kharagpur towns illicit manufacture is resorted to for the sake of the profit that is obtained by the sale of illicit spirit in these towns. In Tamluk and Ghatal subdivisions the offences against the Excise laws are reported to be on the increase. At the beginning of the year under report, the Sonthals, in the jurisdiction of Binpur Police-station, proved very refractory, defying all law and order. In the resulting confusion, the revenue laws were broken with impunity, as the police were fully engaged to restore law and order and the local Excise staff were not strong enough numerically to cope with the situation. This state of affairs continued for 3 months. The aboriginals and semi-aboriginals in the Nayagram and Gopiballavpur thanas continued to resort to the illicit manufacture of spirit and pachwai. An interesting feature of the work of the staff during the year under report was the detection of a batch of 11 important illicit distillation cases in Panskura thana. The distillation was carried out on a large scale and the stills used were big ones. The strength of the illicitly distilled liquor was found to range from 3·4 U. P. to 6 U. P. which is far stronger than the spirit sold at licensed shops. The accused persons belonged to the Bhadralog class and used to send the liquor by country boats to Calcutta.

The number of persons arrested for " unlicensed sale of duty-paid country spirit " fell from 105 to 81. The decrease occurred chiefly in Calcutta and Hooghly. An important case of this nature, the particulars of which are given below, was detected in the district of Hooghly. In consequence of a marked shortage in certain consignments of liquor sent from Konnagore Distillery to warehouses and to the Medical College, Calcutta, malpractices at the distillery was suspected and confidential enquiries were undertaken. Eventually, two peons attached to the distillery were detected selling non-duty paid over-proof liquor at the distillery with the connivance of the distillery staff. The peons were prosecuted and convicted by the lower court, but one was acquitted on appeal and the other was acquitted on retrial ordered by the District Judge. Departmental proceedings were drawn up and one Excise Sub-Inspector and the two peons were dismissed. The Inspector in charge of the distillery was found guilty of contributory negligence and his case has been reported to Government for orders.

Prosecutions for " illicit possession of duty-paid country spirit " remained almost the same (36 against 37) as in the previous year.

The arrests for " illicit import, export or transport of country liquor " decreased from 236 to 142. The decrease mainly occurred in Hooghly (74), Howrah (13) and Darjeeling (12). The heavy decrease in Hooghly has already been explained in paragraph 71.

The prosecutions for " illicit sale of foreign liquors " fell from 44 to 25. Calcutta alone is responsible for a decrease of 13 cases. Two Paharia servants of Messrs. D. Sorabjee & Co., licensees of the Railway Refreshment Room at Parbatipur, were prosecuted and convicted for illicit sale of foreign liquor to private customers. The accused used to steal foreign liquor from the stock of the firm.

The number of persons arrested for the illicit manufacture of " tari " decreased from 1,227 to 1,201. This form of crime is common amongst the lower classes (especially the up-country inhabitants) of the Presidency and the Burdwan Divisions.

The prosecutions for " illicit manufacture, possession or sale of pachwai " fell from 1,862 to 1,858.

The arrests for " illicit cultivation of poppy " decreased from 7 to 4. Two big cases of poppy cultivation were detected in the district of Dinajpur. The number of plants were 193 in one case and 43 in the other. The accused in both the cases were prosecuted and convicted.

Taking the figures under the two heads " illicit opium " and " treasury opium " together the number of arrests fell from 272 to 130. The chief decreases took place in Calcutta (81), Chittagong (20) and Midnapore (13). The decrease in Calcutta was principally due to the apathy of the detective staff, which has since been transferred to other districts. The total quantity of opium seized in Bengal amounted to 37 maunds and 3 seers as compared with 79 maunds and 13 seers in the previous year. Of this quantity, 28 maunds and 29 seers were seized in Calcutta alone. Ten maunds and 15 seers were seized by the special staff at different stations. The Customs officers, Calcutta, made seizures on board the vessels in the port of Calcutta, amounting to 3 maunds and 27 seers. Twenty maunds and 3 seers were seized by the Calcutta Excise officers as compared with 36 maunds and 32 seers in the previous year; 1 maund and 26 seers were seized by the Calcutta Police. Some important arrests were made during the year, but as the details have already been given in the Excise Supplement to the Criminal Intelligence Gazette, it is unnecessary to reproduce them here. Mention may, however, be made of the following four cases of special interest :—

In the first case the Superintendent of Excise, Detection Branch, Calcutta, received information that one Ayab Peshawari, a notorious opium smuggler of Calcutta, had been importing large quantities of opium from Native States and up-country through a respectable looking carrier of Rampur State, who used to carry the contraband stuff in his luggage by rail in a second class compartment and get off at some roadside station and proceed to Calcutta with his luggage by road in a taxi-cab sent out to him from Calcutta. The Superintendent therefore arranged a watch on two occasions, once near the Asansol Railway crossing and again near the Howrah Bridge, to intercept the taxi on the road and arrest the carrier with the contraband opium. Both these attempts having proved abortive, he decided to apprehend the man on the next occasion before he commenced the road journey, and on receipt of certain information, he deputed one of the Inspectors of Excise, with permission of the Collector, to Hazaribagh to detect the case there. The Inspector, helped by the Deputy Commissioner and the local police, arrested accused Abid Hosain at the Hazaribagh Dâk Bungalow and his servant Banna for illicit possession of 2 maunds and 12 seers of opium. Both the accused were tried under the Opium Act by the Sub Divisional Officer, Hazaribagh, and Abid Hosain was sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment for one year and to pay a fine of Rs. 1,000, in default to undergo six months' further rigorous imprisonment, and Banna was sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment for six weeks. Abid Hosain belongs to a well organised gang of smugglers of Rampur State, Calcutta and Delhi, and had several previous convictions under different names to his credit.

In the second case, an Inspector of Excise, Calcutta, received information that one Fazloo Peshawari, a notorious opium smuggler, of No. 234, Darmahatta Street, Calcutta, had kept a large quantity of opium and cocaine in wooden boxes in a room on the top floor of a mutkotha at 233, Darmahatta Street, in charge of Raghu Urya, the occupant of the room He hastened to the spot with a party of men and guarded the house. The room was found padlocked, but subsequently it was forced open in the presence of witnesses and 1 maund 11 seers and 13 chitaks of opium and 28 ounces of cocaine were recovered from two wooden boxes and seized. A warrant of arrest was issued against Raghu Urya, who subsequently surrendered in Court. The accused was prosecuted under the Opium and Excise Acts and convicted under both the Acts and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for six months on each charge, the sentence to run concurrently. This Raghu Urya was the custodian of contraband stuffs on behalf of Fazloo Peshawari, and was handsomely paid by the latter for the same. In another case, one Mohan Singh, a servant of Fazloo Peshawari, was arrested for illicit possession of 26 seers of opium and 11 ounces of cocaine, and was convicted under both the Opium and Excise Acts. The smuggler Fazloo Peshawari carries on his illicit trade with the help of his servants in order to avoid personal arrest and conviction and evidence connecting him with the offence can seldom be obtained.

In the third case, an Inspector of Salt, Chittagong Customs, while searching the S S. Mallard, of Messrs. Turner Morrison & Co., which arrived from Calcutta to Chittagong Port, discovered a package tied with a piece of cloth, behind the engine under the flooring plate. The package when opened was found to contain 15 balls of opium weighing 410 tolas. One Mohammad Ismail, the engine driver, who offered a bribe of Rs. 130 to the Inspector to escape punishment, was arrested and prosecuted. He was convicted and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for four months and to pay a fine of Rs. 100, in default to suffer further rigorous imprisonment for two months.

In the fourth case, in Dinajpur, a Sub-Inspector of Excise under the instructions of the late Mr. M. Cox, Superintendent of Excise, arrested one L. M. Stewart alias G. Fitzgerald, an Irishman, who was carrying opium, weighing 1 maund, 20 seers and 10 chitaks, in his trunk from some place beyond Lucknow to Calcutta. He was prosecuted and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for six months and to pay a fine of Rs. 500, in default to suffer a further rigorous imprisonment for three months. The accused had a previous conviction for a similar offence.

Several important seizures of opium, in railway parcels, were made during the year after attempts to arrest the consignees or their agents had proved unsuccessful.

Ten registered and insured postal parcels were seized and 39 seers and 14 chitaks of opium were recovered from them. Three parcels came from Delhi and one each from Udaipur, Serangpur (Indore), Rengus (B. B. C. I.), Saharampur, Kuncham Road, Gorrakpur and Tonk. In all these cases, every endeavour was made to arrest the addressees, but without success.

A curious case of possession of a spurious cake of opium was detected in the district of Midnapore. One Sarat Chandra Ghosh, a notorious opium smuggler, was found in possession of a ball resembling exactly a genuine one seer treasury cake of opium. It appears that the man's intention was to palm off this spurious cake on to a purchaser as a genuine cake. He had actually played this trick once before in Khulna district. The case against him had to be withdrawn as the spurious cake did not contain the slightest vestige of opium.

The smuggling of opium is really controlled by Peshawaris and up-country men at one end and by the Chinese and a few Chittagonians at the other. The opium is imported into Calcutta by the Peshawaris and up-country men from the places where poppy is grown, viz., the Native States of Central and Upper India either by rail or by post, through the agency of respectable looking carriers, mostly Europeans and Anglo-Indians, who travel by rail, in first class or second class compartments, and alight at Howrah or Sealdah Station or at some roadside station completing the journey by taxi. The price of opium, at the source of supply, varies from Rs. 30 to Rs. 40 per seer, and in Calcutta, it varies from Rs. 100 to Rs. 150. The major portion of contraband opium available in Calcutta passes into the hands of the Chinese Capitalists, who in their turn, export the same to China either through officers of steamers or through the Chinese or Japanese crew of the vessels plying between India, China and Japan. The residue of the contraband article falls into the hands of the Chittagonian smugglers, who export the same to Burma generally through the Chittagonian crew of the vessels plying between Calcutta and Rangoon.

It is an open secret that some railway parcel clerks and postal delivery clerks and peons help the smugglers in importing opium. This explains why, in spite of persistent efforts, the consignees or their agents of so many seized parcels, escape detection. It may be of interest in this connection to mention that two delivery clerks of the Calcutta General Post Office were prosecuted at the beginning of the year by the postal authorities for having given delivery of two postal parcels, containing contraband opium to the addressees, and both of them were convicted.

One hundred and thirty-six persons were arrested for " illicit possession or sale of madak and chandu " as compared with 151 in the preceding year.

The arrests for " illicit cultivation or collection of ganja or bhang " fell from 73 to 68. In Bogra a case of smuggling of over 2 seers of non-duty paid ganja from the Naogaon Ganja Mahal was detected. The accused was sent up for trial and convicted. In the Ganja Mahal at Naogaon in the district of Rajshahi 21 cases of " smuggling of non-duty-paid ganja " and " illicit possession of green ganja " were detected against 17 in the preceding year. Three cases of special importance, in which the quantity seized was comparatively large, are given below :—

(1) Mohar Chand Mondal was arrested with 37 ganja plants containing 13½ seers of ganja. He was sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for one month.

(2) Dayim Ali was arrested for illegal possession of 9 seers of green ganja and was sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for three months.

(3) Habi Mondal was arrested for illegal possession of 4 seers and 31 tolas of non-duty-paid ganja and was sentenced to suffer rigorous imprisonment for three months.

The prosecutions for " unlicensed sale of hemp drugs " rose from 149 to 157. The increase occurred principally in Calcutta.

There were 106 arrests for " illicit possession of ganja " against 100 in 1922-23.

The prosecutions for " illicit possession of charas remained exactly the same (4) as in the previous year.

The arrests under the head " illicit possession of bhang " decreased from 257 to 155. The chief decreases took place in Bogra (24), Dinajpur and Rangpur (each 15), Dacca (14) and Chittagong (11). Wild bhang grows in abundance in many of the districts of North and East Bengal, and the cases are generally petty in their nature, and their detection is not encouraged very much as wild bhang in small quantities is used as a medicine for cattle.

The prosecutions for " unlawful import, export or transport of hemp drugs " fell from 46 to 33.

There were 287 arrests for " illicit sale or possession of cocaine " as compared with 332 in the preceding year. Calcutta is principally responsible for the decrease, which is not a satisfactory feature of detection work in the town. Illicit traffic in cocaine is very prevalent in Calcutta where 256 persons were arrested out of the total number of 287. The 24-Parganas comes next with an arrest of 13 persons. Dacca comes third with an arrest of 8 persons. The total quantity of cocaine confiscated in Bengal was 1,730 ounces and 231 grains, of which Calcutta's share was 1,716 ounces 178 grains or nearly the whole of the quantity seized. Mention has already been made of an important cocaine case under the head " Opium " by a notorious smuggler Fazloo Peshawari.

Japan still continues to be the chief source of supply of illicit cocaine, although German cocaine is again coming on the market. Illicit cocaine is imported into Calcutta chiefly by Chinese and Japanese smugglers, mainly through the Chinese and Japanese crew of the vessels plying between Calcutta and Japan. The whole of the stuff so imported passes into the hands of the Peshawaris and other Indian local smugglers, who, in their turn, dispose of the major portion of it at a much higher price to up-country smugglers (of Lucknow, Cawnpur, Delhi, Rampur State and other principalities) leaving comparatively a smaller portion for retail sale in small packets in Calcutta.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORTS ON INLAND EMIGRATION UNDER THE ASSAM LABOUR AND EMIGRATION ACT, 1901 (VI OF 1901), FOR THE YEAR ENDING THE 30th JUNE 1924.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

Emigration Branch.

CALCUTTA, THE 11TH DECEMBER 1924.

RESOLUTION—No. 10259Emi.

READ—

The Reports on Inland Emigration under the Assam Labour and Emigration Act, 1901 (VI of 1901), for the year ending the 30th June 1924, submitted by the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, and the District and Assistant Superintendents of Emigration.

The most noticeable feature of the year under review in connection with inland emigration was the increase in the number of recruits despatched to the labour districts, due in a great measure to the opening of new recruiting centres in the Madras Presidency.

2. Recruiting operations in Bengal were conducted as usual in the districts of Bankura, Birbhum, Burdwan and Midnapore. The number of garden sardars employed during the year was 253 as against 261 in the preceding year. All worked under the supervision of licensed local agents. The number of local agents' licenses was 21 as against 18 issued in the previous year. The total number of emigrants recruited in Bengal was 217 as against 78. The largest number of recruits was from Midnapore, viz., 183. The total number of recruits from Bengal and other provinces embarking at Goalundo was 17,056 as compared with 11,124 in the preceding year.

3. Arrangements for river transport were satisfactory. Three deaths at Kharagpur and three deaths at Naihati, of which two were due to cholera, were reported to have occurred among the emigrants during the year. Of the 17,066 emigrants, who arrived at Goalundo from the recruiting districts in and outside the Presidency of Bengal, 2 deserted, 3 were released, and 5 died. There was no death during the steamer journey to Chandpur among the 7,736 emigrants who embarked for the Surma Valley districts. There was also no death during the voyage to Assam among the 9,318 emigrants who embarked for the Brahmaputra valley.

4. In connection with the transport of labour to Assam receipts amounted to Rs. 2,100 against Rs. 1,937 in the preceding year, while the expenditure fell from Rs. 22,057-3-9 to Rs. 7,781-12-1. This decrease is due to the change in the method of adjustment of emigration charges brought into effect from the year 1923-24.

5. Lieutenant-Colonel C. A. Gourlay, I.M.S., held the office of the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, throughout the year. The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to him and to the local officers for their assistance in the administration of the Act.

By order of the Governor in Council,

W. S. HOPKYNS,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

Average deficit Rs. 9,923.*

The normal surplus which may be expected in future, i.e., the difference between the average ordinary income and expenditure calculated on the figures in columns 13 to 15 and 17 to 19, respectively.

Remarks.

* A full explanation is given in paragraph (d) of the explanations given on the revenue. The deficit is mainly due to the heavy deductions on account of establishment charges for the levaluation office to the extent of about Rs. 30,000 per year.

(a) If the ordinary surplus is insufficient to meet the charges of the proposed loan the particular step which the Board has taken or has agreed to take in order to make good the deficit.	(a) Though according to the figures shown in columns 13 to 15 and 17 to 19 no surplus is available in future years for the repayment of the proposed loan yet, as the District Board expects an increase of income from Provincial rates due to the revaluation now going on of at least Rs. 10,000 during the current year and of about Rs. 40,000 during 1925-26 and of about Rs. 1,00,000 from subsequent years after the completion of the revaluation work, the repayment of the instalments of the proposed loan could be easily arranged for.
(b) Possible means of increase in the revenue of the District Board.	(b) From revaluation of cesses which is going on.
(c) A statement of outstanding loan as well as the annual charge involved on their account.	(c) Rupees 25,000 only is outstanding as loan from Government. On this account Rs. 9,250 only will have to be paid during the current year and Rs. 18,725 only during the next year.
(d) Any explanation in regard to the expenditure to show the true financial position of the Board when such position is otherwise than the ordinary surplus would indicate.	(d) Though on the basis of actual calculation of the figures in columns 13 to 15 and 17 to 19 it appears that no surplus could be expected in future years as there was an average deficit of Rs 9,923 during the last three years owing to heavy deductions on account of establishment charges for the Revaluation office, the District Board expects that although there may not be any surplus next year after meeting all necessary normal expenditure and the charges on account of existing and proposed loans, the income will be sufficient to meet all those charges with the expected increase of Rs 40,000 from cesses during the next year ; and it is expected that with the estimated increase of income of Rs. 1,00,000 from cesses from 1925-26 there will be appreciable surplus from 1925-26.

Sheriff's Proclamation of Sale.

TO be peremptorily sold by the Sheriff of Calcutta by public auction pursuant to the order of the High Court, Calcutta, dated the 13th day of March 1924, and made in Execution Case No. 91 of 1922, wherein Satya Charan Shah is the plaintiff decree-holder and Sarat Chandra Shah is the defendant judgment-debtor, in his sale-room on the ground floor of the Court-house, on Friday, the 23rd day of January 1925, at 12 o'clock noon, the following property belonging to the said defendant judgment-debtor :—

All that undivided moiety or half share of the two-storied brick-built messuage or dwelling-house together with the land or ground whereupon or on part whereof the same is erected and built containing by estimation 5 cottahs more or less, situate lying at and being premises No. 17, Mondol Street, in Sutanuti, in the town of Calcutta, and butted and bounded on the north by Mondol Street, on the east by premises No. 18, Mondol Street, on the south by the vacant land of Monohar Shaw, and on the west by premises No. 16, Mondol Street.

It appears from searches made in the office of the Registrar of Assurances of Calcutta from 1865 to date that the following encumbrances affect the said property, namely :—

(1) Indenture of mortgage, dated the 24th June 1918, and made between Sarat Chandra Shah and Nundo Lal Shah (therein referred to as the mortgagors) of the one part and Woomes Chandra Shah and Ishan Chandra Shaw (therein referred to as the mortgagees) of the other part whereby the mortgagors purported to mortgage with the mortgagees the entirety of the said premises No. 17, Mondol Street, to secure repayment of Rs. 2,000 with interest thereon at the rate of 9 per cent. per annum with quarterly rests on the 24th June 1919.

(2) Bengali Instrument of mortgage, dated the 21st February 1920, executed by the said Sarat Chandra Shah and Nundo Lal Shah in favour of Kali Prosonno Haldar whereby the entirety of the said premises No. 17, Mondol Street, together with another property consisting of 6 bighas of sali land in village Moheswarbati, in district Hooghly, was intended to be mortgaged to secure repayment of Rs. 6,500 with interest thereon at 9 per cent. per annum with quarterly rests within the month of December 1920. The mortgagors thereby covenanted and promised that save and except a mortgage which they had executed in favour of Kristo Chandra Shaw and Kartik Chunder Shaw on the 10th Asar 1325 B.S. (corresponding with the 24th June 1918), they had not mortgaged the properties with any person and that out of the consideration money of the present mortgage they would pay off the said mortgage and get the property released therefrom and make over the original mortgage to the present mortgagee.

That save and except as aforesaid there are no other encumbrances affecting the said premises No. 17, Mondol Street.

The above property is to be sold for the realisation of Rs. 1,600 being the amount of the decree of the Court of the Subordinate Judge, Chinsura, besides the costs of and incidental to the execution proceedings and the sale herein.

The conditions of sale may be seen at the office of the Sheriff of Calcutta on any day before the sale and shall be produced at the said sale.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

First Forecast of the Spring Oilseed Crops of Bengal, 1924-25.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1922-23 the area under linseed in Bengal has represented some 4·5 per cent. and that under rape and mustard 15·9 per cent. of the total area under these crops in British India.)

Explanatory.—Three forecasts are issued for the spring oilseed crops. The present one deals only with the area sown and the general condition of the crops.

Area sown.—Oilseeds are grown chiefly in the Rajshahi, Dacca and Presidency Divisions. In the other two divisions the cultivation is small. The total area under these crops (excepting sesamum for which separate forecasts are issued) is returned at 882,900 acres this year, as against 877,600 and 882,500 acres, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Character of the season.—The rainfall in September was in excess of the normal, while in October it was in defect. Field operations are generally reported to have been commenced at the normal time, except in the districts of Faridpur and Bakarganj where their progress was slow owing to late subsidence of water. Subsequently untimely heavy rainfall in November has proved generally unfavourable in many districts, and the present outlook is reported as only fair.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Second Forecast of the Winter Rice Crop of Bengal, 1924-25.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1922-23, the area under winter rice in Bengal has represented some 19·0 per cent of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the season.—At the outset the weather was hot and dry for field operations up till the middle of April after which precipitation occurred over the greater part of the province, especially in North and East Bengal. In the latter part of April and the early part of May good weather prevailed and agricultural operations were correspondingly facilitated, but subsequent unprecedentedly high temparatures adversely affected broadcast paddy and delayed the sowing of see-beds for transplanted paddy, especially in highland tracts. Subsequently, with the break of the monsoon, in the middle of June, condition and prospects generally improved except in parts of West Bengal, where insufficient rain proved detrimental. During the months of July and August, a strong monsoon prevailed in East and North Bengal; but in West Bengal it was less active. Transplantation of winter paddy progressed favourably during these two months although more rain was required in West Bengal. In the lowland tracts of East Bengal, excessive rain caused serious damage to deep-water aus paddy and some damage also to deep-water aman. Good rainfall, especially in the first part of September, further facilitated transplanting of winter rice, and benefited the crop generally. In October weather was favourable in East Bengal, but was too dry in West Bengal. Untimely rainfall accompanied by cloudy weather in November further slightly damaged the ripe paddy in certain lowland tracts of East Bengal, but it was helpful to late transplanted paddy in West Bengal. On the whole a normal crop may be reaped in North Bengal districts, Burdwan and Khulna, and excepting in the affected tracts in Eastern Bengal, already referred to, fairly satisfactory elsewhere.

Acreage.—According to District Officers' estimates the total area under winter rice amounts to 15,589,200 acres as against 14,951,900, acres in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Outturn.—From the district returns appended it will be seen that Malda and Bakarganj report more than normal crop (i.e., 109 and 108 per cent., respectively). The districts of Khulna, Burdwan, Howrah, Rajshahi, Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, Rangpur and Bogra report a normal crop. Twelve districts report crop between 92 and 80 per cent. and the rest between 75 and 67 per cent.

Accepting 89 per cent. as the Provincial outturn worked out on the District Officers' estimates, the gross yield of cleaned grain from the winter rice crop on the basis of a normal yield of 12½ maunds per acre amounts to 6,370,900 tons this year as against 5,835,800 tons in the corresponding forecast of last year.

24-Parganas	840,600	743,100	709,600	83	92	End of October to end of November Normal	The decrease in area is due to want of rain and sowing of jute on lands previously sown with aman paddy. The weather has been favourable on the whole. Want of rain at the early stage is likely to cause the outturn to fall somewhat below the normal
Nadia	136,800	154,300	150,400	50	67	Kushtia—Middle of October Normal. Elsewhere—Not begun.	The increase in area as compared with the first forecast is due to late transplantation in the Sadar subdivision The weather was generally dry with occasional rainfall in some parts. The condition of the crop is fair The outturn is expected to fall below the normal for want of seasonable and unequal distribution of rain
Murshidabad	351,400	244 000	279,900	58	83	Not commenced yet ...	The increase in area is due to favourable weather condition and timely rainfall The outturn is anticipated to fall below the normal for want of sufficient rainfall at the latest period

Pabna	404,200	396,100	397,100	67	83	End of November. Normal	The weather was favourable since the submission of the preliminary forecast. The outturn is expected to fall below the normal and damage to the extent of about two annas of the crop has been caused by drought and sudden rise of rivers.
Malda	304,000	170,000	266,000	55	109	Middle of November. Normal.	The increase in area is due to timely rainfall. The weather condition has been favourable. The outturn is expected to be more than normal this year.
Dacca	672,400	681,800	684,800	100	69	November. Normal	The slight decrease in area as compared with first forecast was due to the sowing of spring crops on lands which were destroyed by flood water and water hyacinth. The weather was favourable at the begining, but subsequently sudden rise of water retarded the growth of the crop and caused considerable damage. The outturn is therefore expected to fall much below the normal.

Bakarganj	1,800,000	1,372,000	1,874,000	100	108	November. Normal ...	The increase in area is due to more reclamation of new chars and forests. The weather was, on the whole, favourable and the growth of the crop good. The rains in the early part of November caused a little damage to the crop which in view of the present weather conditions is negligible. The outturn is expected to be a little above the normal.
Chittagong	425,000	429,000	439,000	92	92	November and December. Normal.	The weather has been favourable.
Tippera	787,000	796,500	814,800	92	83	November. Early ...	The increase in area is due to decrease in area under jute cultivation owing to unfavourable weather condition. Continuous rain retarded the growth of the crop. The effects of weather have not been favourable in the Sadar and Chandpur subdivisions but favourable in the Brahmanbaria subdivision. Damage to the extent of about three annas has been caused by flood. The outturn is expected to fall below the normal.
Noakhali	705,000	630,500	643,000	100	83	Early November. Normal	The increase in area is due to high price of rice. The character of weather was not good. Some damage was done to the crop in the Feni subdivision by excessive rain.
Chittagong Hill Tracts	50,000	42,400	42,700	83	67	.....	The weather condition was promising early in the season and its effect on the crop good. Damage to the extent of eight annas has been caused by floods in the circle of the Mong Chief. Hence the outturn is expected to be below the normal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Forecast of the Bhadoi Crops of Bengal, 1924-25.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1922-23, the area under autumn rice in Bengal has represented some 6·2 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the Season.—As indicated in the preliminary forecast the weather was not favourable in the early stages owing to prolonged drought, and insufficient rain up till the middle of June. With the break of the monsoon, the conditions generally improved except in parts of West Bengal, where the rainfall was still somewhat defective. During the period July to September excessive rain and high rivers caused damage to mature aus paddy crops in the lowland tracts of East Bengal, the districts which suffered being Pabna, Dacca, Mymensingh, Faridpur, Tippera, Bakarganj and Noakhali. On the whole the crop was fairly satisfactory in North Bengal, while a fair crop only was obtained elsewhere.

Acreage.—The total area sown with the different bhadoi crops this year is reported to be 5,606,100 acres as against 5,767,500 acres last year. Of this the area under autumn rice is estimated at 4,857,200 acres as against 4,984,000 acres last year.

Outturn.—According to the District Officers' estimates, the outturn of autumn rice as well as that of all the different bhadoi crops together for the Presidency works out at 73 per cent. of the normal as against 77 per cent. last year.

Accepting 73 per cent. as the outturn of autumn rice this year, the gross outturn of the crop for the Presidency, on the basis of a normal yield of 10¾ maunds of clean grain per acre, is estimated at 1,400,200 tons this year as against 1,515,500 tons last year.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL UNEMPLOYMENT COMMITTEE.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND INDUSTRIES.

Industries.

CALCUTTA, THE 10TH DECEMBER 1924.

RESOLUTION—No. 6181Ind.

IN pursuance of a resolution carried in the Bengal Legislative Council on 30th March 1922, a committee composed of nine official and non-official gentlemen was appointed in this department resolution No. 5579Ind., dated the 18th November 1922, to investigate the problem of unemployment among the educated middle classes in Bengal and to suggest remedial measures.

2. It was subsequently decided in this department resolution No. 1656Ind., dated the 28th March 1923, to include in the scope of enquiry of the committee the question of unemployment among the Anglo-Indian middle classes as well and suggestions as to its solution, and the number of members of the committee was raised to 12.

3. The committee has completed its inquiry and has submitted its report with recommendations suggesting remedial measures. The recommendations of the committee are now under the consideration of Government. Meanwhile the report is published for general information.

4. His Excellency the Governor take this opportunity of expressing his thanks to the members of the committee for their labours in connection with the inquiry. He also regrets the death of Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, the mover of the resolution in pursuance of which the committee was appointed, and of Mr. J. H. Rundlett, one of the representatives of the Anglo-Indian community on the committee. The former died before the committee commenced its work, while the latter participated in the deliberations of the committee, but died before the report was actually drawn up.

By order of the Government of Bengal

(Department of Agriculture and Industries),

G. S. DUTT,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

INTRODUCTION.

The late Rai Bahadur Radha Charan Pal, M.L.C., moved a resolution at the meeting of the Legislative Council, held on the 30th March 1922, suggesting the appointment of a Committee to investigate the problem of unemployment among the educated middle-classes of Bengal and to suggest remedial measures. The resolution was carried in an amended form. In pursuance of the above resolution the Government of Bengal in the Ministry of Agriculture and Public Works appointed a Committee "to investigate the problem of unemployment among the educated middle-classes in Bengal and to suggest remedial measures"—vide Resolution No. 5579 Ind., dated 18th November 1922.

The Committee was composed of the following members:—

(2) Mr. R. S. Finlow, B.Sc., F.I.C., Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

(3) The Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

(9) Inspector of Technical and Industrial Institutions, Bengal, Secretary.

By the sudden death of Rai Bahadur Radha Charan Pal, the mover of the resolution, which melancholy event took place in December 1922, before the Committee could commence its work, the Committee was deprived of the valuable assistance which it would have received from him. His place was filled, on the 19th February 1923, by the appointment of Mr. Krishna Chandra Roy Chaudhury, M.L.C.

The distress due to unemployment was, at the time, very acute among the Anglo-Indian Community also, and at the request of some of the leading members of that community Government decided in Resolution No. 1656 Ind., dated the 28th March 1923, that the scope of enquiry laid down in the Resolution No. 5579 Ind., dated the 18th November 1922, referred to above, would include investigations into the question of unemployment among Anglo-Indians as well and suggestions as to its solution. The personnel of the Committee was strengthened by the inclusion of the following additional members:—

(3) Dr. Pramatha Nath Banerji, M.L.C.

Mr. Traise, however, intimated his inability to serve in the Committee and tendered resignation. Mr. J. H. Rundlett was appointed in his place, vide Notification No. 291-T—A.I., dated the 5th May 1923.

The Committee has to record its deep sense of regret at the death, on 1st June 1924, of Mr. J. H. Rundlett, one of the active members of the Committee. The late Mr. Rundlett, however, attended all the meetings of the Committee held up to May 1924, by which time the Committee concluded its discussion, and he agreed generally to the proposals contained in this final report.

The committee as it stood finally was composed of the following members:—

(1) Dr. D. B. Meek, M.A., D.Sc., O.B.E., Director of Industries, Bengal, Chairman.

(3) The Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

(8) Khan Bahadur Maulvi Wasimuddin Ahmed.

(11) Mr. E. Hoogewerf, Secretary.

At the first meeting of the Committee, held on the 22nd December 1922, a Sub-Committee was formed to formulate a simple set of questions (reproduced in Appendix II to this Report). This questionnaire was very widely distributed among the leading gentlemen of the Province interested in the problem, the employers of labour, heads of colleges, District Officers, Chairmen of the District Boards and Municipalities and the various associations and institutions working in the province and was also published in the English and the vernacular newspapers. Over 600 copies of the questionnaire were issued and replies were received from 148 persons. These replies form Appendix III to this Report. Eleven gentlemen were orally examined by the Committee and records of their evidence are printed in Appendix IV to this Report. The Committee altogether held 15 meetings. The cost of the Committee, as per details given in Appendix V, amounted to Rs. 729, exclusive of the cost of printing the Report and the Appendices which was done at the Secretariat Press and other clerical work which was done by the staff of the Director of Industries' office.

CHAPTER I.

The problem which has been allotted to us, as a Committee, is not the general problem of unemployment in Bengal, but is the problem of class unemployment of two special sections of the community, viz., the educated middle class Bengalis and the Anglo-Indians.

2. Classification of causes of unemployment.—It is almost certainly the case that whenever the question of unemployment arises and is investigated, it is found that the causes may be distinguished broadly as forming two classes:—

(1) those which result from variations in the demand for workers of definite types, and

(2) those which result from conditions which produce a type of worker who is lacking in definite qualifications which are considered essential by the employer.

While it is true that the causes which fall within these two classes are by no means independent of each other the classification is convenient, and if the causes are looked at from the point of view of the worker as distinguished from the employer, they may be referred to conveniently as (1) "Objective" and (2) "Subjective". This classification makes a distinction between a man who is unemployed through no fault of his own and another man who is unemployed because, for the type of available employment which he seeks, he is really unemployable—also it may be noted frequently through causes over which he had no control. The causes might also be analysed of course from the point of view of the duration of the unemployment, e.g., as temporary, semi-permanent or permanent.

3. The co-existence of class unemployment and a demand for industrial labour.—One of the replies to the questions which were issued by the Committee is as follows:—

I am unable to persuade myself that there is an "unemployment problem" at all. Unemployment is certainly common among middle-class Bengalis, but the "unemployed" decline to join the "Working classes" and are in fact not dependent upon work for their livelihood. It is common knowledge that workmen are not forthcoming in Bengal in anything like the number required by the industries and transport businesses of the province (in the Kankinara group of jute mills, for instance, only one workman in 30 is a native of Bengal), and that the middle-class Bengali considers working class employment beneath him. He is fortunate in being able to live up to this belief, thanks to the remarkable resources of the agricultural, social and domestic system that begets and sustains him. I know of no other country outside India where such a large proportion of the community live at a middle level of comfort without doing any work: or where life in general, for the whole community, is so easily achieved; or where unemployment, in the sense of failure to obtain the means of livelihood on the part of a man who is prepared to take it in any sphere, is so rare: or where the need for a Poor Law is so definitely absent. The middle-class, in its insistence on keeping its identity intact, is possibly straining its economic resources: but that is not a matter for public concern. It is morally and politically unfortunate that a considerable section of the community should be without work and that many of these should be discontented because they cannot get work at a particular level of respectability: but that is not a matter in which the public can interfere to any effect. The present state of affairs is the outcome of economic well-being rooted in the agricultural wealth of the province, which still exists and sustains it. If that well-being collapsed, an unemployment problem might arise: and with it, presumably, to assist its solution, would develop an improvement in individual enterprise and moral character.

In our opinion there may be a certain amount of truth in these remarks but they fail to lay sufficient stress on the present subjective aspect of the problem. They take no cognizance of the fact that at present India, together with other countries of the world, is suffering from a very severe depression in industry and commerce and that, as a result, many who have spent the greater part of their lives in a particular vocation now find themselves out of employment at a stage when it is practically impossible to so modify their lives as to take to a new vocation with efficiency. If we take as an example the case of a Bengali who is say 35 years of age, who has been a clerk in a business firm for 15 years, who finds himself out of employment due to reduction of staff, and, even if we assume that he is physically fit to be a worker in a jute mill and there is no prejudice on either side, how many mill managers are there in Bengal who would be willing to offer him employment as a jute mill worker? Even a jute mill worker must possess some characteristics which qualify him for his work and the "unemployed man" cited above has almost certainly lost the most useful of these characteristics, viz., adaptability, long before he reached the age of 35 years. The reply might be given that "necessity knows no law", but this applies equally to the employer as to the employee and the employer's necessity is for a worker who will be capable of learning his job rapidly if he does not possess a knowledge of it at the outset when he is employed. The statement that any man in Bengal who is willing to join the working classes can obtain work can hardly be maintained if the "subjective" causes which will be considered in detail hereafter are fully recognised.

4. The existence of class unemployment is recognised and accepted.—The evidence which has been placed before us to the effect that there is considerable unemployment among the Anglo-Indians of Bengal and among the educated middle-class Bengalis is overwhelming, and we have been greatly impressed by the acuteness of the problem and the urgent necessity for the adoption of measures for the alleviation and removal of the present distress and for the prevention of any aggravation of the present condition of affairs in the future.

5. Report deals to some extent with the two communities separately.—The treatment of the problem is somewhat complicated by the fact that we have to consider the conditions of two distinct communities. These conditions are so different for the two communities that we have considered it desirable, even at the expense of a certain amount of duplication to keep the two portions of the report at least partially distinct.

CHAPTER II.

6. Method of approaching the problems.—It is possible to analyse the cause of unemployment in various ways; but, as has been indicated above, an analysis from the point of view of the man who is out of employment is perhaps as simple as any. Adopting this method we divide the causes into two main groups "Objective" and "Subjective". Under objective we may place the causes which would frequently be termed "economic"; under subjective may come those generally classified as "social" and "educational". It is, of course, realised that, as the analysis is continued, causes which come under one main head or another approach each other closely and in the end, show the close inter-relation which really exists between them throughout.

Objective Causes—Economic.

7. The present depression in trade and industry.—In common with the other countries of the world, India has been suffering, and is still suffering, from a severe depression in industry and trade. During the war an artificial stimulus was given to industries in India, not only through the abnormal demands made by the Army but also by the fact that supplies from Europe were considerably reduced. In the years 1917-18-19 the demands of the country could not be met in the usual pre-war manner, first because there was very little freight available and secondly because the usual suppliers abroad could not meet the orders. Hence there resulted in India an artificial development of industries which gave employment to a large number of educated Bengalis. During this period there was less unemployment among the class which has taken to clerical work. Salaries were increased to meet a marked rise in the cost of living and the increase in salaries was generally made on the assumption of continued prosperity in business. Then came the slump and with it the necessity on the part of the employers to reduce the wages bill. When such a necessity arises the tendency is generally to reduce the number of employees in the first instance and only gradually the scale of salaries. Many enterprises had to close down dispensing with their whole staff and other concerns had to limit their field of action and reduce their staff accordingly. This is merely the recognised business cycle of boom and slump with its concomitant effect on employment together with a recognition of the fact that each such cycle has its own characteristic features, the special feature in this cycle being the arrival of the slump when it was realised that certain Governments were not prepared to finance the boom by colossal inflation.

8. Comparative effect on educated and uneducated worker in Bengal.—Such a cycle affects the uneducated worker as well as the educated, but up to the present time an industrial population, as such, has made very little progress toward development in India. The labourer, if we may use the term, has not yet been divorced completely from the land, and he frequently possesses or has an interest in a small plot of land in his native place on the cultivation of which he can fall back in times of depression. Added to this there is the fact that industrial labour is still comparatively scarce in Bengal and in fact has to be imported from other provinces. The effect therefore of trade depressions on the industrial labourer in Bengal is so far very small. On the contrary the educated worker in industry has no such haven in times of stress and when thrown out of work he falls back on his relatives for assistance.

9. The question of finding remedies for the elimination of such sequences of "boom" and "slump" opens up a field of almost unlimited extent. Such cycles have a very definite bearing on the problem of unemployment generally and therefore on the problem of unemployment among the two classes specifically referred to us. But in fact our problem is one of class unemployment and we feel that such broad questions are rather beyond our terms of reference. Our references therefore to methods of eliminating business cycles are only mere suggestions to indicate the scope of a problem which may at some time be tackled by a body of men with more time and greater experience.

10. Trade cycle.—An examination of the history of trade and industry results in the recognition of a succession of periods of prosperity separated from each other by periods of depression. In so far as the interval between successive periods of prosperity or depression varies considerably the succession is not truly cyclical. In addition, each depression has its own special features. In the past attention was mostly concentrated on the special features and the recurring nature of depressions was missed. Recently, however, opinion has veered round to consider a crisis followed by a depression, out of which arises a revival followed by prosperity and a subsequent crisis, as the normal course of history in business, carrying with it unemployment and the reverse respectively. The recognition of the existence of such cycles naturally leads to the conclusion that in time the present depression will give way to a period of prosperity; but the disquieting factor is that the duration of successive periods of depression varies very considerably and is largely dependent on the magnitude of the special factors attending each crisis. And these special factors in the present case are probably of greater magnitude than any in previous modern history.

11. It may be argued that such considerations raise very wide questions; that the problem is international. That we admit, but we also observe that the tendency with the return of prosperity is to forget very rapidly the bad times in the past, and when prosperity again declines it is then again too late to help the unemployed, except by measures of relief as contrasted with measures of prevention through foresight. In business, as in other fields where human nature is such an important factor, probably there will always be this oscillation; but the object in view should be to prevent any oscillation becoming disastrous. Such an end can only be approached when the information on which action could be based is available, and is presented in a form which can be easily interpreted by business organisations and by the public generally. A few acute industrial minds may have picked their way through the maze of this complex problem in the past, but in the absence of statistical and economic data the majority of the ordinary rank and file have lost their way. A small minority have made lucky guesses and speculations. The vast majority are simply groping in the dark.

12. Magnitude of problem of trade cycles.—If we say that we have not undertaken a detailed study of this problem for want of time and other reasons, our other reasons will probably be understood when it is mentioned that such a study involves among others such questions as (1) the distribution of public works construction, (2) the control of credit and currency, (3) the control by employers' associations of expansion in each industry during times of prosperity. With the exception of a few remarks which we shall make on the question of the distribution of the construction of public works we feel that we must leave such problems to other committees with fuller information at their disposal. The remedies which we would suggest as likely to assist in reducing the amplitude of business oscillations and the distress associated with periods of depression are—

(1) The enlargement of the statistical work done by Government.

(2) The establishment by Government of an impartial economic research organisation.

(3) The regulation of public works construction so that such construction takes place largely during periods of depression.

(4) As a means toward the alleviation of distress during periods of depression men of the same occupation should be encouraged to form associations which would build up reserve funds for each individual during periods of prosperity to be drawn on during compulsory unemployment.

(5) The establishment of unemployment bureaux by such bodies as are in a position to give reliable information regarding the qualifications of those on their lists.

(1) Statistics.—Some industrial concerns keep very complete statistics of their own business and of course if complete statistics of the whole industry are to be published the various firms must be willing to contribute to the consolidated figures. If they are willing to contribute then their information must be protected by statute, so that it is not available in an individual form either for the purposes of Government or of a competitor. Such statistical work can be done therefore only by a Government department. In addition to the data for each industry or trade, information should also be given as to the general trend of business; and, further, this general trend should be given not only for India but also for other countries which are either competitors or buyers. This means that India should have business representatives in other important countries whose prosperity is closely bound up with that of India either as a competitor or as a buyer. Many of the larger firms have their "friends" in other countries and for any particular industry such a system may be satisfactory; but in addition to those agents there seems to us to be justification for the establishment in other countries of officers whose duty it will be to report regularly on the general situation; and such reports, like the statistical information contemplated above, should be transmitted rapidly and published immediately in such a language as will be most useful to the community concerned.

(2) Economic research.—If the statistical data contemplated above were collected there opens up the field for economic research. There is perhaps no other field in which such diverse views are held as in the field of economics owing to the complex nature of the problems involved and because frequently the investigator is financially interested. But whatever the cause of this diversity of opinion there is a definite need for impartial investigation of economic forces and the results which they produce. There is no question here of forecasting. That must be left to the industrialist. It is a question of developing the science from the statistical data as they become available, and of making the fullest use of the work of the statistics department of Government. As in other scientific departments in which the information collected by them is interpreted by scientists so the information collected regarding industries should be interpreted by economists who are impartial and financially disinterested in the results. In other fields it is held that research work is a function which may be properly assumed by Government and we are of opinion that in India there is a definite need for research work regarding economic forces and that this function should be assumed by Government and carried out through the strengthening of the Statistics Department by the addition of qualified economists.

(3) Regulation of the incidence of public works construction.—The regulation of construction on public works is the usual remedy put forward in every country for the purpose of filling up depressions of trade. Such regulation depends on the taking of a long view or at least a longer view than usual, and the difficulties militating against a long view are that a time of depression always seems to be the wrong time for expansion of public works and that a time of prosperity is just the time when there is a demand for expansion. On the other hand a time of prosperity is usually one of high prices, high wages and high rate of interest so that it is more economical to carry out a policy of expansion of public works during a depression. The great difficulty seems to be the lack of confidence in a return of prosperous times and if this could only be removed and public works carried out during trade depressions these works would cost less and would help to fill up the trough of bad trade. In India the public works are limited almost entirely to the construction of railways, ports and to the execution of large irrigation schemes and are generally in the control of Government. We would like to lay stress on the necessity of taking a long view in such matters and of using such works to tide over bad times. As in other countries one method of dealing with such matters would be to appoint a Commission with powers both executive and financial, to control the incidence of large public works schemes.

(4) Contributory unemployment relief funds.—As a means of relieving distress during periods of unemployment, as distinct from plans primarily designed to diminish the amount of unemployment, the question of establishing associations for compulsory saving during periods of prosperity is one which merits careful consideration. The idea of co-operative provision to this end is by no means new in Western countries, and, if with the establishment of National Insurance in those countries it has lost its relative importance, it may be remembered that in the earlier days of Trade Unions this function was not neglected. It was not confined to Trade Unions only. There were other societies which ran schemes for unemployment benefit, for medical benefit and also for payments in the event of the incidence of extraordinary expenses such as accompanied funerals. The membership of any such society was not confined to those in one particular trade and of course there were actuarial advantages arising for the absence of such a condition. With most of these schemes the funds were on a co-operative basis, and this, so far as medical benefit and funeral expenses went, did not raise many great difficulties; but when the co-operative basis is applied to unemployment relief obvious difficulties do arise. It appears to us that the greatest benefit can be derived from compulsory saving with the least difficulty if the Trade Unions recognize its importance and make it one of their prime functions. We do not consider that it is possible at present to expect the system to be successful if it is placed on a co-operative basis. We think that the compulsory savings of each individual should be accounted for separately and, when he is out of employment, his relief should be limited to the amount at his credit. The proposed legislation of the Government of India will, if passed, encourage the formation of Trade Unions and we sincerely hope that the registered unions, with their funds protected and publicly audited, will gradually develop contributory unemployment relief funds and thereby be instrumental in removing much distress in times of trade depression.

We know that some employers have schemes for provident funds for their employees to which both employer and employee make compulsory contributions and we are strongly of opinion that such schemes, if adopted universally would be of the greatest benefit to men when they suddenly find themselves out of work.

(5) Employment Bureaux.—At various places later on in this report we recommend the establishment of employment bureaux and we mention the subject at this stage, not because we consider that an employment bureau has any direct effect on the period of a trade depression, but because we are of opinion that an employment bureau properly run ensures more rapid placement and therefore reduces the loss of income for the wage earner resulting from unemployment. The problem is not in any way similar to that of finding so many workers for a tea garden or a coal mine. It is the placing of a man in a job for which he is qualified. If an employment bureau on two or three occasions recommends a man for a job and the employer finds that he is quite unsuitable the employment bureau will soon earn a bad reputation among employers and it will then be unable to serve any useful purpose. For this reason an employment bureau for the classes under consideration must be run by people who have a close personal knowledge of the qualifications and characters of the people for whom posts are being sought. Hence it is that later on we suggest that an employment bureau should be organised by the Board which we recommend for the control of all technical and apprenticeship training, this bureau working in the closest touch with the heads of all technical institutions. Similarly for the Anglo-Indians we recommend that the Anglo-Indian Unemployment Committee should continue their work as an employment bureau keeping in touch with the heads of the Anglo-Indian schools.

In the Dacca University there is at present a committee one of whose functions is to assist graduates of the Dacca University to find employment. The work of this committee suffers from the fact that the committee does not seem to be in as close touch with employers as is desirable. We would recommend its development in this particular direction. In fact at the suggestion of His Excellency the Governor of Bengal, the Director of Industries and the Vice-Chancellor of the Dacca University have already discussed this question, and developments along the lines indicated by His Excellency will be taken up.

For the graduates of the Calcutta University the question is more difficult as, with all due respect to the University, we feel that it does not possess the close touch with its students which is possible in a residential university. We think, however, that a committee representative of the University professors and the principals of the more important colleges in Calcutta and of employers' representatives would be able to do some good work in the way of placing those graduates in suitable employment who have been properly trained.

All these agencies for the "placing" of unemployed would, in our opinion, assist in relieving the immediate problem and, following the practice in all developed countries, a practice which we consider fundamentally sound, the cost of the establishment required for the various employment bureaux which we have recommended should be borne by Government. The cost of running such establishments is relatively small.

13. Explanation of suggestions.—To the extent that unemployment among the classes under consideration is due to the general depression in trade and industries the above are our suggestions for their future and present relief in so far as such recommendations would have a tendency to prevent the recurrence of disastrous depressions and to provide work during the present depression. They are applicable to both educated Bengalis and to Anglo-Indians. Beyond this we have no general suggestions to make which will create immediate productive employment for those who are out of work.

CHAPTER III.

Educated middle-class Bengali.

14. Overproduction of the type of employee under consideration.—We have had it in evidence that even when times are normal from the trade point of view there has been a larger supply of the type of employee under consideration than demand for his services. This may be accounted for to some extent by the natural increase in population, but it appears to us that this is only a minor cause and that the natural development of the business of the country probably should have absorbed the natural increase in population. The principal causes of the increase in the numbers seeking employment from among the members of the middle class seem to be—

(1) the rise in the standard of living,

(2) the rise in the cost of living,

(3) the absorption of members from lower classes resulting from natural aspirations and also from an effort among those lower classes to surmount the financial effects of both (1) and (2),

(4) decay of industries owing to the failure to adopt progressive methods of production to meet foreign competition.

15. Standard of living.—During the last 30 or 40 years there has been a very considerable rise in the standard of living among the educated classes of Bengal. This rise has been more or less a general one throughout the world; but in Bengal, among the class of Bengalis with which this report deals, it has been particularly marked. We need not deal with the causes of this rise in the standard of living. Many of these are fairly obvious.

16. If the standard of living in a community rises it means that the demands of the members of the community in question increase. They require better and more clothes, they require better food, they require more luxuries. This necessarily involves increased expenditure unless prices fall at an equivalent rate. Supposing we assume that the level of prices remains constant a rise in the standard of living means increased expenditure and to meet this there must be increased incomes. The only way in which incomes can be increased without raising the level of prices is to increase the productivity of the individual and an increase in the productivity will be effective in increasing the incomes of producers so long as the level of prices remains constant or rises. If the level of prices remains constant the increase in the income will enable an increase in the standard of living to be made. If the level of prices is rising an increase in the productivity resulting in an increase in the income may or may not be effective in enabling an increased standard of living to be maintained. This will depend on the relative rates of increase in the level of general prices and of increase in income.

17. Relative fixity of middle-class incomes.—For many years the level of prices in Bengal has been rising. From all those who have helped us in our enquiry we have conclusive evidence that the standard of living of the middle-class educated Bengalis has also increased considerably. In the majority of cases the income of a family of middle-class Bengalis is very nearly a constant quantity. The members of this class are seldom producers. Hence their income resembles that of the middle-classes in other countries and it lags considerably behind the rise in prices. The general analysis given above applies to the members of this community in the same way as it applies to the members of other communities; the main difficulty, however, is that the income of a member of this community is practically fixed. He is therefore faced with the difficulties of rising prices, a desire for a higher standard of living and an income which he does not find it easy to increase.

18. Formerly incomes took the form of a portion of the produce from the land rented out.—In former days the middle-class Bengalis were supported largely from income derived from land. This income frequently took the form of a portion of the produce of the land they owned. They did not till the soil themselves but let it out to ryots on the understanding that the rent paid would be half the amount or some part of the produce of the land. This amount was generally sufficient to support their families. If their needs had not increased it would presumably still support them, the question of price not entering into the calculation at all. In fact, in this simple form the money value of the produce could be eliminated. But the standard of living has increased and their share of the produce of the soil is no longer sufficient to meet their increased needs. It is necessary to supplement this with an increase in income from other sources. Some of the members of the family must take to employment other than that connected with the renting out of their land, and gradually, as the standard of living increases, other members must take to such employment. This has been one of the main causes of the break-down of the joint family system and of the gradual flow of the educated middle-classes from villages to the towns. The process is by no means complete. It was caused mainly by a desire for a higher standard of living. That desire is intensified by life in the town and the wrench of returning to the mufassal is all the greater after the comforts of living in towns, as compared with living in the mufassal, have been experienced. We do not by any means condemn this desire for a higher standard of living. It is only natural and it is a world-wide movement, but so long as it is not accompanied by an increased earning capacity it is bound to lead to results such as at present exist in Bengal.

19. Immigration from lower classes into the Bhadralok class.—Similarly the numbers in this class seeking employment have been very considerably increased by immigration from other classes. For a period the educated middle-class Bengali doubtless flourished, and it is only natural that a desire on the part of members of other classes to rise should have come into existence. Every human being who is worth anything wishes to rise either materially or morally and frequently in both directions. As in many other fields of development progress here seems to be by upward and downward swings, the general tendency being upwards and those who have come in from the lower classes seem in this case to have missed the rise while at the same time they have brought the downward swing earlier and will take it lower than it might otherwise have gone.

20. Decay of village life and trek into towns.—The decay of village life in Bengal and the general trek of the educated Bengali to the towns and principally to Calcutta is also another factor which has increased the numbers seeking employment of a special type in a limited field. Whatever may be the causes of this decay of village life—and many have been put forward by various witnesses such as lack of sanitation, bad water-supply, general absence of the amenities of life and the decay of local industries—it is generally recognised, both here and in other countries that such a movement leads to unemployment and is bad for the country generally. It seems to be a natural consequence of the earlier stages of industrial and educational development on western lines. Periodically there have been movements in Europe to get the people back to the country, but none of these movements seem to have been very effective or lasting. The increase in the standard of living has brought them to the towns and force of circumstances only will send them back to the villages, provided the villages are developed in such a way as to offer them something better than what they left before migrating to the towns. It is not at all probable that they will be willing to return to their former standard of living, and so, even if they go back to their villages, they must exert themselves to such an extent that they add some increased value or some increased amount to the goods produced in the country thereby creating the increase in value necessary to meet the enhanced demands of the higher standard of living which they have adopted. The problem then is to direct their efforts to this end and where they are unable or unqualified to attain this end to assist them and train them. And this leads us to an aspect of the problem which is both objective and subjective from the point of view of the unemployed—it is an aspect of the problem which is economic, social and educational, and also involves sanitary reform. There can be no question of expecting the middle-class educated Bengali to return to the same conditions in his village as he left. Similar attempts elsewhere have proved that very little success need be expected in this direction. What in our opinion is required is a development of the villages, such a development leading to the springing up of a number of small towns in the mufassal—small to begin with and not becoming finally too unwieldy. It may be said that towns only spring up where industries are developed and that nothing more than villages can be expected in an agricutlural country, but Western Bengal at least has possibilities in the direction of the establishment of industrial centres.

21. The unemployment problem is really the general problem of the community.—It is difficult to isolate the question of unemployment of any community and deal with it alone. Sooner or later it spreads itself until it involves the whole economic, social and educational problem of the community. In fact the evidence which we have received covers the whole life of the educated Bengali, and it would be almost impossible to name an aspect of Bengali life which has not been mentioned by one witness or another. Most of the problems have been dealt with recently by special commissions and it would be mere repetition to cover the same ground again. We therefore propose to limit ourseleves to indicating where similar problems have been fully discussed and to making some definite recommendations which we consider will help toward a solution of the present and future position.

CHAPTER IV.

Education.

22. Type of technical expert required.—So far as the large body of educated middle-class Bengali unemployed are concerned many witnesses are inclined to consider them at present unqualified for the employment available. According to this testimony they have received a type of education which only qualifies them for employment in certain well-known professions and these professions are already very much overcrowded. They have not received the type of education which would enable them to obtain employment in those lines where there are still some openings, which would enable them to adapt themselves and acquire the necessary further training for these occupations. There is, therefore, a general demand for facilities in technical education using the term in its widest sense. In our opinion this universal demand is legitimate and should be met; but at the same time a note of warning may be issued. The capacity of the existing industries to absorb trained and educated Bengalis is by no means unlimited and in fact it is quite probable that such a demand would be fully met within a very limited period. Unemployment among a large number of technically qualified men would be an equally distressing state of affairs but, in our opinion such a contingency will be avoided by the economic and industrial development of the country. The next point in this connection is that under circumstances as they exist at present the demand is not so much for highly specialised technologists as for men with a sound training in mechanical engineering together with additional training in some special technical line. The majority of the newly formed industrial concerns cannot support a group of specialists. What each requires is a manager with a sound mechanical engineering training and in addition some knowledge in one special line. For example, an expert tanner without any knowledge of the necessary repairs of tanning machinery would find it difficult to obtain employment; a highly specialised chemist simply and solely would experience difficulty in running a small chemical works; an electrician who knows little or nothing about mechanical and steam engineering would be lost in a power-house or in an electrical repair shop. We should not, however, confine our attention to the needs of existing industries, as a narrow or short-sighted view of technical education might stand in the way of the future industrial progress of the country. The ultimate aim of the proposed system ought to be, to use the words of the Indian Industrial Commission, " to create an industrial organisation comparable to that of western nations and to build up an industrial community capable of working such an organisation ".

23. The employer who has work to offer should have chief voice in standards and courses.—The next point of importance is that the future employer should be consulted. So far as the existing industries are concerned we must turn out a type which the employer wants or for which there is demand, unless of course the members of such a class are financially independent and do not seek any employment, in which case they do not come under the class which is being considered in this report. In any scheme, therefore, which may be proposed for the theoretical side of technical training the employers should have a large voice in the control of courses and standards, being assisted by educationists. The interests of the general public should be safe-guarded by suitable representation. These are points to which we shall return presently in making our definite recommendations.

24. Educational facilities required in commerce banking, etc.—In addition to the demand for increased educational facilities in subjects which would lead to employment in industries there is also a strong demand for educational facilities leading to employment in commerce, shipping, banking, accountancy, actuarial work architecture, etc., and there seems to be no doubt that there is still a field in these directions for the employment of educated Bengalis. But here again the same remarks apply regarding the determination of the courses of study and the standards as well as the more important question of practical training. The future employer must be fully consulted. The Calcutta University has in recent years instituted degrees in Commerce and started classes for imparting instruction of advanced courses in various subjects necessary or useful for commercial careers, but in order that this new move may prove a complete success it is very desirable for the University authorities to establish contact with commercial houses so that proper arrangements may be made for the practical training of the young men attending these classes.

25. Development of the Board of Control of Apprenticeship Training.—The large number of unemployed graduates and undergraduates can only expect to find employment if they add to their present qualifications something which has a market value. They cannot qualify for those lines in which there are still openings if the facilities for both theoretical and practical training do not exist. These facilities in our opinion should be developed immediately and they should be developed by those who are in a position to know what kind of theoretical training is required, to offer facilities for practical training and to offer posts when the practical and theoretical training is completed. The Board of Control for Apprenticeship Training in part fulfils these conditions, but so far, it has confined its activities to training in mechanical and electrical engineering. Its functions should be extended, its powers should be increased, its composition should be definitely laid down with full representation of employers and the public. It should be given a definite annual lump sum grant by Government to carry out the object in view, viz., the provision of facilities for the training of men for definite employment in industries and commerce. The grant will, of course, be subject to audit by Government but beyond this the Board should have full control of its finances. It will thus be in a position to exercise control of the institutions under it through its grants to the working expenses of these institutions.

26. Control of supply in relation to demand by the education authority.—Some may hold that it is not the duty of an educational authority to estimate the supply and demand in any particular labour market and to try to control the supply accordingly. They may hold that each member of the community should be allowed to find his own level. This may have been the attitude in western countries generally, but we know at least one recent case in the West where definite control of the supply has been directly and consciously undertaken by the educational authority through its standards of examination. We know that no guarantee has been given, or in fact can be given, that a certain course of training will result in material profit or in employment, still we consider it the duty of an educational authority to make definite efforts to prevent the entire equilibrium of any particular labour market being upset as a result of the absence of control of the course of education provided by it. We hold, therefore, that it would be one of the functions of the Board mentioned above to survey, and, as far as possible, to forecast the probable supply and demand in any particular field within their control. Otherwise technical education and training, which so many of our witnesses seem to consider as a panacea, would lead, to a state of things in another field very similar to the present state. We realize the difficulties involved in any effort to control the supply to the demand but we consider that this aspect of the question merits careful attention and should not be lost sight of.

27. Present system of education.—Most of our witnesses agree that the present system of education introduced by Lord Macaulay right up to and including the Universities is one of the principal causes of this present class unemployment. The question has been dealt with on many previous occasions by expert bodies and the reports thereon are numerous. Some educationists go so far as to say that the system is positively defective, that it leaves the student inferior in many respects to what he was before he came under its influence, that it destroys his adaptability, his originality and to a great extent his power of independent thought and that it has very little direct bearing upon the interests of his daily life. This picture has much that is true in it but it seems unduly pessimistic. The present system was introduced for a definite purpose and it is certainly exotic, but no one can say that it has not fulfilled the purpose for which it was introduced. As is often the case in development it has overshot the mark, and the great mistake would appear to be that it has been continued unmodified long after it had served the purpose for which it was introduced. In introducing the system Lord Macaulay wrote that "We must at present do our best to form a class who may be interpreters between us and the millions we govern, a class of persons, Indian in blood and colour, but English in taste, in opinions, in morals and in intellect. To that class we may leave it to refine the vernacular dialects of the country, to enrich those dialects with terms of science borrowed from the western nomenclature, and to render them by degrees fit vehicles for conveying knowledge to the great mass of the population." Part at least of this purpose was served long ago; but the system was not modified or developed to meet the changed circumstances of the country. It has been continued practically in its original form until the class of interpreters has grown to such an extent that there is not interpreter's work for all the members, and in the meantime the excess has not taken either to other forms of "service" or to productive work. And the most depressing thought of all is that the process is still going on and any modification even in the near future will not become effective for many years to come.

28. Influence of the present system on modern thought in India.—We appreciate to the full extent the value of the influence which this type of education has had on the development of modern thought and life in India, but at the same time we feel that the whole system of education in India requires to be remodelled in such a way as to bring it into closer contact with the every-day life of the country and to give it a character which will have a more direct bearing on the after life of each student.

29. Main defect of present educational system—One great defect of the system is that it leads to one end only, viz., the M. A., M. Sc. or B. L. examination. It is like a bamboo, each joint being an examination and the diameter remaining practically the same size from the root to very near the top. It has no branches and the crowning top covers a very small area. What is required is a spreading tree with branches going off in as many directions as possible at definite points along the trunk, not all at the top. We may be told that the tree refuses to branch. The gardner's method of making a tree branch is to prune the main stem. In the absence of a gardener Nature does the same work. When the tree becomes tall and top-heavy it breaks in the wind and if it is not killed it then branches beneath the break. It seems that the gardener's gentle pruning and the other methods he adopts to induce branching are preferable to Nature's cure, although some of our witnesses, in desperation, have suggested remedies which resemble Nature's cure very closely.

30. Economic development necessary.—What we must do is to find methods of encouraging branching at definite points so that large numbers of those within the grip of the system may have early opportunities of leaving the main line and setting out into fresh country. But there is no use going out into fresh country if that country is barren and is left barren. The mere provision of facilities for technical training may help for a little time but it will not solve the problem unless at the same time an economic development takes place, be it spontaneously or with external assistance. In an ideally balanced development technical training and economic progress should proceed forward together each being stimulated in turn by the other. When one lags it should receive a stimulus and vice versa. At the present time we are of opinion that relatively the lag is with technical training and we consider that it requires a very definite stimulus; but no finally useful purpose will be served by giving technical training a definite stimulus and forgetting the equally necessary stimulus to economic development. This question then of unemployment among the educated middle-class Bengalis takes us down not only to the education problem but also to the fundamental economic development of the whole country. To the question of economic development we shall return in a future chapter.

31. Recommendations.—Out of the main considerations in this chapter we make the following recommendations:—

We strongly recommend that a comprehensive scheme of technical education be immediately adopted; such a scheme must provide for the training of industrial workers of various classes such as managers, foremen, supervisors, workmen. And for this purpose different classes of institutions will require to be established. The highest grade of technological instruction is to be imparted in a well equipped technological institute co-operating with the existing facilities of the Calcutta and Dacca Universities. To this end also the Calcutta Technical School may be developed into a Technological Institute co-operating with the Calcutta University so as to avoid overlapping. For workers of the artisan class in the mufassal we recommend further on in the report that in all towns of any importance in Bengal technical schools of the type indicated in Appendix I for Krishnagar should be established and the existing schools of this type should be continued and developed. Besides continuation schools imparting vocation and general education supplementary classes and courses should be established in different centres for the benefit of those who are unable to take advantage of the regular system of instruction. Lastly, suitable arrangements should be made wherever possible for the training of girls and women in work which will be useful in the home.

(1) As a means to this end we strongly recommend that a Board of Technical Education should be established for the control of what may be described as the training, both theoretical and practical, for industry and commerce. The functions of this Board should include—

  (a) The provision of educational facilities for the training of workmen, supervisors, foremen and managers for all the existing industries including mining and jute.

  (c) The conduct of examinations.

  (d) The control of the standards of all institutions providing the theoretical training through grants-in-aid.

  (e) The estimation and publication of the prospects of employment in various occupations and the courses of training to be followed to enter such occupations.

  (f) Assistance to trained men in finding employment through the establishment of an employment bureau for those who have been trained according to the standards set down.

(2) The total Government grant for this form of education should be placed under the control of the Board subject to Government audit.

(3) The composition of the Board should be representative of industries and commerce as well as of the general public with a leaven of educationists.

32. Particulars regarding the existing technical, industrial, agricultural and veterinary schools in Bengal have been printed recently in book form and can be obtained from the Bengal Government Press.

33. General education.—A large body of evidence has been placed before us leading to the conclusion that the system of education in Bengal has many serious defects. This view is now almost generally accepted. The main criticisms that are levelled at the system are—

(1) that it bears little or no relation to the every-day life of the student,

(2) that it destroys his adaptability,

(3) that it leads from one examination to another offering on the way no points of natural divergence,

(4) that it is exotic,

(5) that the medium of instruction is a foreign language, and

(6) that in the end, for a large proportion of the students, it does not lead to any means of earning a livelihood.

34. The whole problem of education in Bengal has been investigated and fully discussed in the Report of the Sadler Commission. It has been dealt with in various aspects in other reports and it would be a mere waste of time to cover the same ground again. The Reports of the Sadler Commission, of the Village Education in India Commission, of the Dacca Technical and Vocational Education Committee, of the Bihar and Orissa Vocational Education Committee are full of proposals and the difficulty seems to be to know where to begin rather than to know what is necessary. We understand that the Calcutta University has recently moved in the matter of general education and vocational education and the decisions arrived at by the Senate as the result of a Conference held with the headmasters of schools are now before the Government of Bengal.

35. We are interested in the educational problem in so far as it has a bearing on the increase in the numbers of Matriculates, Undergraduates, Graduates and Post-graduates who are turned out each year for whom no employment for which they are qualified is available, and our consideration of the general educational problem is therefore limited to certain aspects.

36. Village education.—The education in the village schools should be modelled in such a way as to have the closest relation to life in the village. As the majority of children should expect to remain in the village when they grow up, they should be educated for life in the village and not in such a manner as to lead the majority of them to expect to migrate to towns. There will always be a number who will rise above the others and go forth to the towns but this goal, especially in Bengal, should be for the few and not for the many. After all Calcutta is not Bengal and it is now generally recognised that a general migration from the villages to the towns is bad for the country as a whole. The general education of the village should therefore meet their requirements of village life. An initial step in this direction would be to give effect to the recommendation of the Sadler Commission regarding the medium of instruction in higher education of schools and colleges. The medium should be the vernacular and English should be taught as a foreign language. If the vernacular were the medium of instruction the education would regain its touch with actual things and the great unreality of the present system would gradually disappear, and with it the word "bondage" which has resulted from instruction through a foreign language.

37. Introduction of a scientific aspect into school education.—Another step toward bringing the educational system of the villages into closer contact with the actual village life would be to give greater importance to aspects of education other than literary. The educational system is at present entirely unbalanced. The students all go in one direction receiving a uniform type of education which only fits them for a few limited and, at the present time, overcrowded professions. The system should be expanded and aspects other than literary added. In particular the scientific aspect must be included and for Bengal in particular the natural sciences should receive early attention. To the age of say 12 to 14 years the student should receive this balanced type of education, an education which will not destroy his adaptability but which will discover much natural aptitude for other than literary pursuits. Beyond this age differentiation may begin, the differentiation being as extended as possible provided always that it gives a training which leads to probable employment in any line. At this stage as at all subsequent stages those who have not shown a particular aptitude for the line which they have followed should be discouraged from continuing in it as it can only lead to a blind alley. It is much kinder to stop them at an early stage than to encourage them until it is too late for them to enter another line of training for which they may be more suited. We consider that as the great majority of boys in country schools must eventually earn their living by agriculture the school curriculum or the scientific part of it as laid down above should tend towards agriculture or exibit a "vocational bias". The latter is the term used by the Punjab Educational Department, to describe the object of their efforts to fit the type of education to the environment of the scholars who attend the schools. The curriculum includes the simple facts of modern agriculture, and demonstration on a small adjacent area. They also include equally simple facts regarding sanitation, co-operation, etc., this "rural science" being intended to influence the scholars' mind in a practical rather than in a purely literary direction.

Such a system would create a demand for secondary technical eduaction in which a definite vocation such as agriculture in the mufassal and industries in towns was recognised, and this, all agree, is of transcendent importance as being the only method of materially increasing the income of the country within a reasonable time.

We very strongly recommend these views to Government.

38. Steps to encourage divergence at the Matriculation stage and earlier.—As regards differentiation, which, of course, should only be partial, we consider that ordinary high school education in the last two years should be divided into groups (1) literary and (2) scientific and that each student should make a definite selection. We also consider that in all matters relating to examination the element of compulsion should apply as much to the scientific side as to the literary side. When the students arrive at the University Matriculation stage all need not take that examination. Some from the literary side could take the examination of the Board of Control of Technical Education proposed in an earlier part of this report and if successful pursue a training leading to employment in Commerce, some from the scientific side would take the appropriate examinations of the Board and proceed to a technical training leading to employment in industry. For both these groups the main idea is that they would receive theoretical training at the same time as they were receiving practical training in the business houses and workshops to which they had been successful in becoming articled.

39. Trade Schools for the mufassal.—For those who leave off before the high school stage is reached there is a very definite and urgent demand for training in some vocation. These in the vast majority of cases will remain in the mufassal and there are not many facilities in the mufassal for practical training in workshops or in offices. It will be necessary to continue and develop the small technical schools with small workshops attached to them in the mufassal and to develop this type of trade school in other directions. As we said already and shall indicate later we consider that the solution of the problem of unemployment depends to a large degree on the economic development of the country bringing with it better arrangements for sanitation and more modern methods for cultivation all of which will increase the demand for trained men capable of making and repairing simple machinery. It is obvious that the development of rural industries the application of modern labour saving machinery such as pumping plant, timber sawing machines, mechanical workshops for the repair and maintenance of motor cars, tractors, piping installations, etc., throughout Bengal would absorb a large number of young men of the Bhadralok class equipped with a will to apply themselves to this object. It is, of course, impossible for Government to take up the organisation of definite enterprises but what can be done by Government, as has already been suggested, is that in every town of any importance there should be set up a technical school equipped with power-driven machinery of simple character, firstly, to train these young men in the use of such mechanical appliances and, secondly, to serve as an object lesson to the local community as to what can be done in this direction. A copy of a scheme drawn up for Krishnagar attached to this report (appendix I) will indicate the kind of school intended. For this reason we consider that the product of these elementary technical schools will find employment, although we do not consider that such schools could produce the type of engineer required in a large workshop. We consider that such trade schools should be established and governed by local bodies with grants-in-aid from the Board of Control of Technical Education recommended above subject to inspection by that latter body.

We are not fully convinced of the practical usefulness of the educational colony schemes put forward in some evidence but we think an experiment should be made.

40. The urgent necessity for raising the status of the teaching profession.—We feel that the few suggestions which we have been able to make regarding the problem of education in the province will depend for their success on the definite recognition of the important position held by the school teacher and on steps being taken at once to train teachers for their work. As in the early stages of educational development in other countries so in Bengal the opinion still exists that any graduate or under-graduate is suitable as a teacher. This has been found to be quite wrong. Teaching is a definite art as well as a science and the proper professional training of teachers is one of the greatest needs of the country. We feel that we cannot do better than quote the considered opinion of the members of the Sadler Commission :—

A serious deficiency in the numbers of well-qualified teachers is the fundamental weakness in the system of secondary and intermediate education. It is also the cause of an enormous waste of money and of time. There is urgent need in Bengal for many thousands of well trained teachers, equipped with a sound knowledge of what they have to teach and with a clear comprehension of the aims and methods of a good school. In particular, the methods of class teaching are at fault; and the corporate life of the schools is inadequately developed for the formation of character. If the teaching were improved the school life of the average high school boy could be shortened by two years*. The amount which parents in Bengal would save by this economy alone would be not less than 15 lakhs of rupees a year, a sum which would be a substantial contribution towards the cost of the reform of secondary and intermediate education in the Presidency. In addition to this, improved methods of class teaching in the schools would enable parents to avoid in almost every case the cost of providing private tuition for their sons. The amount of this saving we cannot estimate, but it would be very large. And these economies would accompany an actual advance in the attainments of the boys and a material improvement in their mental vigour and physique. The systematic reform of secondary and intermediate education in Bengal will be greatly reduced by these savings on school fees and on private tuition, apart altogether from the intellectual and physical advantage which it would incidentally secure. One indispensable condition of this reform (another aspect of which is a material improvement in the pay and prospects of the teaching profession) is the better professional training of teachers. In this work the Government and the universities should co-operate.

The recommendations which we put forward with a view to meeting these requirements are as follows:

(lx) Seven hundred trained teachers should be sent annually into the secondary and higher secondary institutions. Many of these would be employed in the intermediate colleges. The Universities of Calcutta and Dacca should each furnish annually 100 trained graduate teachers. The remaining five hundred should, after passing the intermediate examination, be trained in training colleges established by Government.

(lxi) At each of the two Universities there should be a department of education under a professor of education assisted by an adequate staff. Under the direction of the professor there should be a training college, to which should be attached a large practising school and also a small demonstration school; the first to accustom the students in training to the methods which should be used in every good school under normal conditions of work; the second, to provide opportunity for educational experiments and for the trial of new methods and courses of instruction. The course of training should in all cases include a prolonged course of practice in teaching. One of the principal aims of these university departments should be to train teachers in the methods of teaching languages (especially English and the mother tongue) and science. They should also (in association with other departments of the University) be the centres of investigation in educational subjects and for the training of advanced students of the principles and history of education.

(lxii) Education should be included as a subject (a) in one of the courses of study at intermediate colleges, and (b) in some of the groups approved for the pass B.A. degree. The professor of education should be held generally responsible for the origination of schemes of study in education in the pass degree course and also in the coures for the degree of Bachelor of Teaching. The latter should usually be taken as a second degree, after a course of training extending over one year subsequent to the B.A. or B.Sc. But students who have taken the intermediate courses (including education as one subject) and have subsequently served for two years on the staff of a recognised school should be allowed to proceed direct to the B.T. degree after taking an approved course of instruction extending over three years, partly in the university departments of arts or science, partly at a training college. For these and other students taking the professional courses for teachers bursaries should be provided on a liberal scale.

(lxiii) Any student who has taken the B.T. degree should be allowed to present himself for the examination for the M.A. after a course of instruction extending over two years. The principles and the history of education should be added to the list of the subjects in which a candidate may present himself for the M.A. degree.

—Volume V, pages 328-30.

* The average age of candidates for matriculation is now nearly 18½ years. With better teaching it should be 16½ years or lower.

41. Observation on the recommendations.—We consider these recommendations as fundamental and we cannot picture any great improvement in the educational system of the province until effect is given to them. When once the facilities have been provided for the proper training of teachers and when sufficient time has been given to take advantage of such facilities we are of opinion that all grants-in-aid should be made subject to the employment of properly qualified and trained teachers.

CHAPTER V.

42. Economic development of the country.—The question of the economic development of India has been treated in detail by the Industrial Commission which sat between 1916 and 1918 and we are aware of the fact that effect has been given to some of the recommendations contained in their report, but we are strongly of opinion that the development of the country depends on intensive progress in the direction of the recommendations made by that Commission. In recommending that the educated Bengalis should be trained in such a way as to lead a large percentage of them to expect to remain in the villages we realise that this end will not be attained unless the villages are made healthy and attractive and unless an economic development takes place throughout the country which will open up the way to employment yielding sufficient return to maintain the increased standard of living which has become prevalent. We have said nothing about the effect of the increase in population on the problem of unemployment for the simple reason that we have not any recommendations to make which would have the slightest chance of producing any effect. But we believe that the effect of this increase together with the rise in the standard of living can be balanced only by increasing the productivity of the country and by enhancing the value of the produce of the country by the addition of work done on it by the people. In this respect the problem of unemployment of the class under consideration is that of the general economic development of the country. While we consider that the question of the general economic development of the country is of the very highest importance we realise that it is beyond the scope of our work. There are, however, certain directions in which we feel we can make definite recommendations.

43. We are firmly convinced that the prosperity of the people generally, including the class under consideration, lies entirely in the intensive economic development of the country. The country is mainly agricultural together with the associated rural industries. In our opinion what is required therefore is the intensive development of agriculture and of the industries associated with agriculture. The scientific departments in India have already done good work; but a much more intensive development is required in view of their importance to the revenues of the country and to the prosperity of the people in general. To us the problem is clear. For this development of the country more money is required but the revenues can only be increased by getting more out of the natural resources, and this increase, apart from a more strenuous application on the part of the individual, can only be obtained by the introduction of the tested results of scientific research.

As an instance, the improved races of jute which have been evolved by the Department of Agriculture increase the average yield of jute by a minimum of 3 maunds of fibre per acre, or 20 per cent. The value of this fibre at a moderate price of Rs. 7 a maund is say Rs. 20 an acre. It is estimated that 250,000 acres or about 10 per cent. of the total jute crop is now sown with this departmental seed as a consequence of which the net increased profit to the province is in the region of 50 lakhs of rupees a year. Even this is five times the total annual cost of the Agriculture Department but if the whole area now under jute were sown with departmental seed the total net profit would be in the region of 5½ crores per annum. Similar results have also been obtained with rice, sugar-cane and most promising work on other crops is already in progress.

The above refers only to one branch of agricultural research, viz., seed selection, but large increments of profit are also to be obtained from other forms of agricultural improvements including the application of manures, irrigation, etc.

This experience is similar to that of all countries in the world which devoted themselves to agricultural research and to the application of the results.

44. Investment of capital in development work.—We consider that the prosperity of the country depends entirely on broadening of the work of the development departments and this is a point which we wish to urge on Government with all the force at our command. This means that capital in large amounts must be sunk in the country, in particular in agriculture, in irrigation and in communications; but the experience of all other countries, where the effective return was by no means as low as in India, and therefore more difficult to increase, has been that capital invested in such development works yields in proportion a greater return in revenues. Wherever the existing laws are such that an increase in the wealth produced in the country does not yield a corresponding increase in public revenues then we are emphatically of opinion that such laws should be amended immediately.

45. Standing Committee of heads of development departments.—We hold that the functions of the various development departments, such as Agriculture, Industries, Veterinary, should be twofold (1) scientific investigation and (2) demonstration; which latter is merely a form of tuition. There should be the research staff and the demonstration staff, the one set of men working out improvements and the other set endeavouring to persuade the people to adopt these improved methods. We are also of opinion that if any appreciable economic development is hoped for in our time it should be realised that the number of men required should bear a closer relationship to the magnitude of the problem in hand and to the size of the country. We must stipulate, however, that the men employed shall be thoroughly trained in the work which they will have to do and that their activities shall be controlled and co-ordinated from definite centres, otherwise the conditions of the present time will lead to the employment of untrained men who will do more harm than good. The form of administration should be given such freedom as will enable it to accomplish some development in a reasonable period of time. For this and other reasons we consider that the work of these development departments should be co-ordinated through a standing committee of the heads of these departments.

46. Raising of funds for development purposes.—Such accelerated development will probably involve the raising of loans and it might be possible for a local Government to come to some arrangement with the Government of India for the supply of such funds on the guarantee of the interest by the local Government. This suggestion is made as it seems likely that the Government of India will be in a position to raise loans on better terms than the local Government.

47. Agriculture as a profession for the Bengali Bhadralok.—Although certain attempts have been made to ascertain whether agriculture can be undertaken by the educated classes as a profitable occupation we are not convinced that the experiments have been such as to give a definite answer to the question. We consider that the experiment of agriculture as an occupation for the Bhadralok should be tried. The question of amending the law and rules with reference to the Agricultural Loans and Land Improvement Act so as to assist the class of unemployed under consideration should also be taken up by Government. On the question of agriculture as a profession for educated Bengalis we would refer to our remarks in the latter portion of paragraph 37. We believe that the measures indicated therein would tend to mitigate the evil of unemployment among this class in the future.

48. Necessity of experiments in cattle breeding, dairy farming, poultry farming, etc., as occupation for Bengali Bhadralok.—Similarly with regard to other proposals which have been put forward such as cattle breeding, dairy farming, poultry farming, etc., as occupations for educated Bengalis, these, in our opinion, are all questions which can only be settled by definite experiments some of which are already in hand. In carrying out such experimental work expenditure will necessarily be involved but definite results would be obtained, whether these be positive or negative. It is impossible to say beforehand whether such experiments will prove successful or otherwise.

49. Proposal for the formation of a standing committee of heads of development departments.—Another reason leading to the proposal for the formation of a Standing Committee of heads of development departments lies in the fact that many of the problems which are at present being attacked by various departments have a very close relation to each other. Yet in spite of this there is the natural tendency for each department to develop independently of the others. This leads to a sacrifice of co-ordination and to an overlapping of effort. The proposed Committee should be in a position to remedy this defect to a very large extent.

50. Development agents.—The intensive economic development which is contemplated herein would naturally involve a considerable increase in staff but we consider that for the demonstration agent staff a class of officers would be obtained who would be able to demonstrate the results of research work in more than one particular line. The area allotted to such an agent would be much smaller than could possibly be the case with each department employing its own demonstration agents and the agent's knowledge of his area would be greatly increased. He would also spend much less of his time in going from one place to another and therefore much more of his time would be available for his work as an "agent". As less time would be spent on travelling naturally less money would be spent on travelling allowances per agent.

51. The suggestion that the staffs of the various development departments should be greatly increased is not put forward as a remedy for unemployment. This thought is farthest from our minds. Our main thought is the economic development of the rural areas including uncultivated lands in such a way as to afford openings for employment of the Bengali Bhadralok in the mufassal by increasing the wealth obtained from the land and by enhancing the value of the natural produce through the application of knowledge and labour to it.

52. Co-operative society movement.—The co-operative society movement is one which has already done much good in this Province. So far the scope of work has been almost entirely limited to the supply of cheap credit and of course this is merely the fringe of co-operation. Even so, however, the educative value of this work has been considerable. It has taught many the distinction between "productive expenditure on seeds, cattle, fodder, implements and cultivation, indirectly productive expenditure on education and the discharging of old debts and unproductive expenditure on litigation and ceremonies". It has shown "that the mutual responsibility which is a real part of every co-operative system is a real force in creating public opinion against waste and extravagance". Co-operative societies also provide an organisation through which the departmental officers or agents contemplated above could work in spreading the results of research work of the development departments. By further co-ordination among the development departments further advantage can be taken of the organisations of these co-operative societies. For the economic development of the country, however, co-operative societies for other purposes than the provision of cheap credit must be developed. Co-operative societies for the provision of seed, manure, implements, irrigation water, cattle, yarn, looms, power, etc., are all developments which in our opinion, should be encouraged, and besides undertaking mutual production they should also undertake co-operative sale of the produce. It may be objected that mutual distrust stands in the way, but the reply to this objection is that if there were no mutual distrust there would be no need to encourage co-operation—it would come into existence automatically. Through the expansion of the co-operative society movement a large amount of work would be transferred from those who at present carry on money-lending, distribution and buying and selling of produce—and generally these are not Bengalis—to those educated Bengalis who would necessarily be employed by the co-operative societies.

53. Conclusion.—Many other suggestions to remove unemployment among Bengali Bhadralok have been made to us along lines of opening various services to them. We find on investigation that very few services are really closed to Indians; but we are most emphatically of opinion that this is not the line along which an ultimate solution of the problem will be found. While we discourage too great reliance on the part of the educated Bengalis on service as the sole means of earning their livelihood we think there are certain fields in which they might be employed in larger numbers. The admission of Indians to the higher services under Government has now become easier than before and we are sure the movement will be accelerated with the advance of the country. Railways and the Mercantile Marine offer fields for wider employment of our educated young men and we have already laid stress on the development of facilities for their suitable training for the same. The Bengalis have not yet taken kindly to the military profession but it is hoped that now that the commissioned ranks of the army have been opened to the Indians this service will be more popular in this province. In our opinion the solution lies in the intensive economic development of the country, in the entrance of the Bengali Bhadralok into the industry, trade (including marine trade) and commerce of the country and in the immediate acceleration of the development of schemes which will train the Bhadralok to effect this entrance. This change will not be easy and it is not assisted in any way by those Bengalis who are properly trained refusing to accept posts unless a definite salary and definite "life" prospects are offered. For those who are already properly trained we suggest that when an opportunity arises of entering business, they should accept any salary in order to obtain entrance, and when entrance has been obtained, if they prove their value, we feel sure that they will meet with success. At least their efforts to succeed in life will not be hampered by the opiate effect of a permanent service with an annual increment, an effect which only a few succeed in shaking off when once they have come under its influence.

As a simple example of the type of industrial opening which we have in view for the educated Bengali we may note that a very large part of the industry in hand-made boots and shoes has been captured by the Chinese in Calcutta. Given proper training we see no reason why the educated Bengalis should allow this and other forms of employment to remain in the hands of people from another country. Apart from social disabilities why do the Chinese succeed where the Bengalis fail? To this the answer seems to be that they are willing to get down and learn the work themselves; they know more about it than their mistries who work for them and therefore they can guide the efforts of those mistries through their superior knowledge. Except in a few cases the educated Bengali who makes an effort to enter into a small industry does not possess this advantage over his workmen. Frequently he is lost on a job without his head mistry and, when one observes the reliance which he has to place on his mistry, the impression sometimes grows that he is somewhat superfluous. Unless this social attitude toward manual work changes more rapidly than at present we must freely admit that we consider the progress will be slow. Many of our recommendations above have been made with the end in view of accelerating this change of social attitude. We can only suggest that every encouragement be given to the quickening of this process of change of mind —a change which many of our witnesses state has already set in.

We also make a strong appeal to the employers in Bengal to give the qualified sons of the province an opportunity of proving their capacity in the lines for which they have been trained, whenever a suitable occasion arises, without entertaining considerations other than those of efficiency.

CHAPTER VI.

Anglo-Indian unemployment.

(Objective Aspect.)

54. The effect of trade cycles on Anglo-Indian unemployment.—All that has been said regarding the objective aspect of the unemployment problem applies with equal force to both Indians and Anglo-Indians, and whatever effect the proposals made on this aspect would have it would be common to both communities at present. In one particular direction, however, viz., in taking a long view of constructional public works the effect on the unemployment of Anglo-Indians would probably be greater than on the similar problem for Bengali Bhadralok. This simply results from the established tradition which enables the Anglo-Indian to take up work in the nature of supervision of out-door labour. In this particular line the success which he may have attained has resulted from the start he has been able to obtain on the educated Indian who has so far been disinclined to enter into competition with him in this field. With the disappearance of the educated Indian's antipathy to this form of work the competition will become keener and unemployment among Anglo-Indians may be expected to increase. The same result may also be anticipated from political causes which have already begun to work and which will probably become more acute in the future.

55. Heterogeneity of community.—The difficulties of the problem of unemployment among this particular community are also enhanced by the fact that the community is by no means homogeneous. It can be divided up in a number of classes varying from the small upper class, which is well educated and finds no difficulty regarding employment, to a large class who differ very little from Indian Christians and are almost unemployable, being unable to compete with Indian labour, through a considerable class of potentially efficient members of society. Comparatively the community is not large and the unemployed in the mufassal soon find their way into Calcutta. In this respect the problem is smaller and much more localized than is the case with the Bengali Bhadralok and for this reason it will be possible to make certain recommendations which we have not been able to suggest for the case of the other community.

56. Anglo-Indian Unemployment Committee and an Employment Bureau.—Since the end of 1923 the Anglo-Indian Unemployment Committee has been assisting the unemployed of this community in many ways. They have raised funds by donations from the sympathetic members of the Calcutta public and by organising charity entertainments. With this money they have relieved the distress of the Anglo-Indian unemployed, they have paid the school fees of many of the children of the unemployed, they have provided these school children with clothing and they have paid the joining expenses of those unemployed for whom work has been found. While in the manner indicated they have prevented much distress the Anglo-Indian Unemployment Committee realize that the most important part of their work has been the placing of unemployed in jobs. In spite of the trade depression this part of the Committee's work has met with considerable success. In this way it has actually been carrying out the functions of an Employment Bureau. The success which has attended the efforts of the Committee has resulted almost entirely from the fact that the Committee consists of a large number of influential employers, who are frequently in a position to give employment or to know where there is a probability of work being found. We consider that this type of Employment Bureau will always be much more successful in its work than any ordinary form of Government Employment Bureau isolated from the touch and sympathy of the employer. We consider therefore, that the work of Anglo-Indian Unemployment Committee should receive the greatest sympathy, encouragement and recognition from Government and as the Committee is effectively performing work which in other countries is undertaken by Governments we consider that a Government grant-in-aid equal to the amount raised by the Committee would prove a suitable form of encouragement. This would place the Committee on a permanent basis while leaving it a direct responsibility for raising half the money required for its activities.

57. Standard of living and cost of living.—We have no direct evidence that the standard of living of this community has increased to any great extent. In fact from the investigations of our Chairman in connection with the Anglo-Indian Unemployment Committee there is abundant evidence that the standard of living is extremely low; in many cases it is difficult to imagine conditions in which it could be any lower. While the standard of living may not have increased, the cost of living has made a definite advance, an advance which has not been reflected to the same extent in the increase in the scale of emoluments. This had added hardship even to the employed and naturally its effect on the unemployed has been still greater. As is well known some employers have provided housing accommodation, pure water, sanitary and other facilities for industrial labour, and while we realise that the provision of such facilities is not necessary in the present state of supply and demand to attract Anglo-Indians to employment, we appeal to the employers to come to the assistance of the community by providing similar facilities. In addition to this appeal we would recommend the leaders of the community to make the most strenuous efforts to develop the community spirit among the members and to devise some housing scheme on a community basis. We have not been able to work out the details of any concrete scheme and, while we do not underestimate the difficulties which will arise from the absence of homogeneity, we consider that this is a field which is not lacking in promise and which offers a fair prospect of alleviating distress.

58. Unemployment Insurance and Trade Unions.— We have considered the question of unemployment insurance both for the members of this community and for the Bengali Bhadralok and we consider that any national scheme along the lines of the schemes in European countries is quite impossible at present. The Anglo-Indian in many cases, however, has taken to occupations which lend themselves more naturally to trade union organisation than those which have been popular with the Bengali Bhadralok. There are at present proposals before the Government of India which will probably lead in the near future to legislation for the purpose of the registration of trade unions. This proposed trade union legislation foreshadows wider functions for the unions. It contemplates among other things the development of sickness benefit and unemployment benefit funds under the unions, and in view of the fact that the Anglo-Indian has taken kindly to the formation of trade unions it is to be hoped that he will encourage the development of those functions of a union which will have a bearing on the welfare of the members through other channels than the mere question of pay. The establishment of such funds will not in any way decrease the amount of unemployment but it will assist very considerably in relieving the distress which naturally accompanies the loss of work by enforcing compulsory saving during the periods of employment.

59. Emigration.—Some of our witnesses have suggested emigration as a solution of the problem but with this proposal we are not in sympathy. It does not appear to us a feasible proposal. Even if it were attempted it could only affect a small percentage of the community by reason of the conditions which control the entry of immigrants into the colonies and other countries. Further, the small percentage, who might obtain entrance into other countries is composed of just those elements of the community who are not affected to any great extent by unemployment. In those colonies where entrance might be obtained it has to be remembered that the type of man required is one who is willing and able to make good in an undeveloped country. The Anglo-Indian has been a town-dweller and although the willingness to attack undeveloped land may in some cases be present the physical ability and actual agricultural knowledge would generally be absent. Emigration would only be possible for the higher elements of the community and would not affect the problem of unemployment to any material extent.

60. Permission to enter the Army.—During the war many Anglo-Indians joined the fighting forces in a temporary capacity and in the auxiliary services of the Army they formed a considerable percentage. With demobilization their services were dispensed with and many found on their return that their old posts had been filled. Some of the Anglo-Indians who joined up during the war did excellent work and it has naturally been put very strongly to us that Anglo-Indian Units in the Army should be formed in all due respect to the community. We do not consider that the formation of Anglo-Indian Units would lead to an elevation of the standards of efficiency among the members of the community. In fact we feel convinced that it would have exactly the opposite effect. We are, however, strongly in favour of recruitment to British regiments being opened to such Anglo-Indians as fulfil the necessary qualifications as to education and physique. Such an arrangement, we feel sure, would have a much better effect on the community, would tend to raise the educational and physical standards of its members and would have some effect on the state of unemployment in view of the fact that the community is a comparatively small one. We also consider that there is a good case for the employment of Anglo-Indians, wherever they possess the necessary qualifications, in the subsidiary branches of the Army in India. This is a branch of the work of the Army for which many are fitted both by reason of the community association with work of this character and in virtue of the experience gained by many Anglo-Indians during the war.

CHAPTER VII.

Education and Training.

(Subjective Aspect.)

61. Guidance in the selection of occupations.—Much that we have said regarding the education and technical training of Bengali Bhadralok applies with equal force to the case of the Anglo-Indian. A considerable amount of the unemployment results from the inefficient education which they receive and from the absence of guidance as to careers at the time when such guidance is most required. A child's desire is generally for advancement, but very little study has been given to the question of the possibilities of different careers. Even when money is not a determining factor the boy frequently sets out on some chance career long before he should leave school. He has little or no idea of what work he is mentally and physically fitted for and his chance selection is almost bound to be unsuitable. It frequently alights on some work which, at the time, may appear attractive and even remunerative, but sooner or later, most frequently too late, the boy discovers that he has entered a path which leads him to what are termed "blind-alley" occupations. Instead of becoming a skilled worker he becomes an unskilled worker. Instead of undertaking something for which he is physically and mentally suited he finds that he has adopted a career which is distasteful to him, a career in which he can never be a success. When the discovery is made it is generally too late to change over to a more suitable occupation, and even if a change is made he suffers from a time handicap. It would be one of the duties of the Board of Control of Technical Training contemplated earlier in this report to prepare the necessary information and through the educational authorities to place it before those for whom it is intended. It may be asked, "What is the information which we have in view", and this we can answer best by quoting from Lord Askwith as to what a boy should know about an occupation he wishes to enter:—

1. The size and importance of the occupation.
2. Is the occupation growing or diminishing? (e.g., is it becoming mainly work for semi-skilled, or is it actually decreasing in importance?)
3. Is the occupation crowded, or is there a scarcity of high-class workers?
4. Is the occupation stable, or is it subject to frequent changes?
5. What is the length of the working-day? Is overtime frequent, and is it paid for?
6. Is payment by time or by the piece?
7. What are the different kinds of work in the occupation? He should know the names of the different branches, the kind of work, and the pay in each branch.
8. Is it an occupation which employs a large proportion of boy-labour? If this is so, the boy should know that he will probably be dismissed when he reaches seventeen or eighteen years of age.
9. Is the occupation a healthy one, and is it carried on under good conditions?
10. The average age of entry.
11. Is there any need of training before entrance.
12. Where this training can be obtained.
13. The wages at entrance. Are they small at first and slowly increasing to high wages, or comparatively high at first, with a small rate of increase the maximum reached in a few years?
14. Have all beginners the opportunity to learn more than one operation or process?
15. What is the number of apprentices or learners?
16. How are the skilled workers recruited?
17. What are the opportunities for technical training?

62. Continuation classes.—Almost all our witnesses have stated that the standard of education among the community is low and that this is one of the most important causes of unemployment. The children generally go to school at a sufficiently early age but the attendance is very irregular and absence from school for long periods is frequent. Transfers from school to school are very common and naturally as a result a continuous scheme of education is not followed. The courses of instructions do not have a sufficiently close bearing on definite forms of employment. For financial reasons, as well as in the absence of proper guidance, the tendency is to leave school at a comparatively early age and the resulting deficiency in education is not made up by attendance at continuation classes, largely because proper facilities for attendance at continuation classes do not at present exist. This is a defect which can be removed and we strongly recommend the development of evening continuation classes for those who have had to leave school at an early age as well as for adults who could improve their education by attending such classes. These classes would of course be open to Indians as well as Anglo-Indians.

63. Instruction should be given a more practical tendency.—As in the case of the Bengali Bhadralok we consider that the elementary courses of instruction should be given a much more practical tendency. In particular is this the case with girls. We hold that they should be trained in household duties, a training which would enable those who marry to dispense with the use of servants in after life thereby reducing the cost of living considerably. We realize that to give the education a much more practical tendency will mean making the education more expensive, but the extra outlay will result in a monetary saving later and will increase the capacity of the members of the community to meet competition. The Anglo-Indian takes kindly to working with his hands and any development of the practical and scientific side of his education will meet with a ready response on the part of the student and will bring out the inherent tendency which has given him such a large share of the employment in this particular field.

64. Attitude toward the Indian Universities.—The general tendency among Anglo-Indian schools has been to develop a system of education which has little relation to the Universities of the province. Whether we consider the University system defective or not there is very little practical purpose served in ignoring the scheme of instruction given to the competitors in after-life unless the scheme which is followed has proved itself more efficient. As things are at present the Anglo-Indian boy who has been at school to the age of 16 or 17 years finds himself in competition with Indians who have followed a course of instructions up to the age of 21 or 22 years. If the Anglo-Indian wishes to continue his separate system then it should be extended to cover the period from 16 years of age to 21 years. We feel, however, that the facilities for such an extension will not be forthcoming, and we are of opinion that the system of education for the Anglo-Indian should be modified in such a manner as to result in greater advantage being taken of the existing facilities offered by the Universities of the province.

65. The standard of teaching.—As in the case of the Bengali Bhadralok the main reason for the low standard of education in the Anglo-Indian schools is the low standard of the qualifications of the teachers. This would to some degree be removed by increasing the salaries, but increased salary and better prospects will not alone remedy the evil. It has to be realized that teaching is a profession and that the art of teaching can only be acquired by training in teaching. As we have said already in an earlier part of this report we consider the recognition of this point as fundamental and we hold the opinion that the improvement of the educational standards both of Indians and Anglo-Indians depends on the immediate development of the facilities for the training of teachers together with the clear recognition of the teaching profession as a profession and at that one of the most important.

66. Financial aspect of improved educational facilities.—The improvements in the educational facilities which we have recommended will necessarily involve increased expenditure. As we read the general movement of political development it seems improbable that there will be any increase in the difference between the amount paid by Government per Anglo-Indian pupil and the amount paid per Indian pupil. When we look into the question of the degree to which Anglo-Indian schools in this country are endowed we find that it compares unfavourably with the amount of endowment of schools in other countries. The community as a whole is by no means wealthy and this, together with its lack of homogeneity, may account for the paucity of the endowments. We feel, however, that there is very little hope of effecting the improvements which we have recommended unless the schools become endowed to a much greater degree than they are at present, and we would strongly recommend this problem to the careful consideration of the leaders of the community. We feel sure that a large section of the Anglo-Indian unemployed would have proved useful working members of society if they had received a suitable education and training and as a solution of the future difficulties in the direction we can think of no more deserving object than the endowment of the Anglo-Indian educational institutions. This object we can most sincerely commend to the practical sympathy of those public spirited gentlemen who are in a position to help financially.

67. Technical education and training.—The extension of the functions and powers of the Board of Control of Apprenticeship Training which we have recommended as necessary from the point of view of the Bengali Bhadralok will also be of the greatest assistance to the Anglo-Indian community. As we have said before, this is a body which would regulate training to meet a demand and to this end it would also set standards. It should be the aim of the Anglo-Indian educational institution to teach up to these standards and to face open competition with the Indian. If this is not clearly recognised and strenuous efforts made to this end then so far as we can see the future prospect for the Anglo-Indian is not by any means bright.

68. Existing facilities for technical education and training.—As was mentioned in paragraph 32, a complete summary of the existing technical educational facilities in Bengal has been published giving full details as to—

(1) Standards of entrance.
(2) Length of courses.
(3) Fees.
(4) Scholarships and free places, etc.

69. Calcutta Technical School.—After a discussion extending over many years pressing for the establishment of a technological institute in Calcutta we note that the Government of Bengal has built a technical school for the theoretical training of engineering apprentices. This school has been built in such a way that it is capable of expansion. In our opinion it is of the utmost importance that the Governing Body of this school should be supplied with the necessary recurring grants from Government and the Calcutta Corporation to enable them to open the school at an early date. It would be one of the functions of the extended and reconstituted Board of Control of Apprenticeship Training already recommended to take up the question of the early expansion of the Calcutta Technical School into a technological institute capable of giving training in those directions in which they consider there is a demand either present or prospective. Expedition in development work of this nature can only, in our opinion, be obtained by an expansion of powers of the Board of Control such as we have already recommended.

70. General conclusion.—We realise that we have touched very briefly on many important problems—problems which merit much fuller treatment. The questions which were referred to us, viz., the causes of the present unemployment and the possible remedial measures, necessarily involve a discussion of the whole economic and social problem. In this respect, therefore, we feel that, far from dealing with too many questions, there are many more which we might have taken under consideration while still remaining within the terms of reference. The question of employment or unemployment is really the question of the whole economic and social structure of India and from our limited investigations we are convinced that this is a problem which is worthy of the labours of a committee of experts and public men. In order to carry out such work expeditiously the services of whole-time experts will be required, and even then results could only be obtained in any limited time by the detailed study of sample areas. This economic study is one of the pressing needs of the present and we strongly recommend it for early consideration. We feel sure that the few recommendations which we have been able to make will assist in alleviating the distress due to unemployment which exists provided always that effect is given to the recommendations within a reasonable period of time.

71. Summary of recommendations—Both Communities.—(A) Trade Cycles.—(1) As a means of enabling industrialists to estimate the general future trend of business and to modify their activities accordingly so as to prevent business oscillations becoming large or even disastrous we recommend—

(a) the enlargement of the statistical work done by Government,

(b) the establishment of trade representatives in other important countries whose prosperity is closely bound up with that of India either as a competitor or as a buyer, and

(c) the establishment of an important economic research organisation by Government.

(These recommendations would affect the future position.)

(2) As a means of alleviating the present distress we urge most strongly that—

(a) all public works construction, already initiated or under contemplation, should be accelerated as rapidly as possible during the present depression and

(b) that a Public Works Commission with powers, both executive and financial, should be appointed to control the incidence of large Government public works schemes.

(These recommendations would affect the present position.)

(3) As a means of alleviating distress during periods of trade depression men of the same occupation should be encouraged to form associations which would build up reserve funds for each individual from the savings during periods of prosperity, such funds to be drawn on during periods of compulsory unemployment.

(This recommendation would affect the future position.)

(4) As a means of securing rapid placement and therefore of reducing the loss in income to a wage-earner we recommend the establishment of Employment Bureaux attached as under—

(a) To the Board for the Control of all Technical and Apprenticeship Training recommended in the Report.

(b) To the Dacca University.

(c) To the Calcutta University by means of a Committee of the principals of the more important Colleges in Calcutta and of employers representatives.

(d) To the Anglo-Indian Unemployment Committee which has already been doing work of this nature for some considerable time.

We consider the financing of such Employment Bureaux is a legitimate function of Government.

(This recommendation would affect the present position.)

(B) Technical Education (both communities).—We strongly recommend the immediate adoption of a comprehensive scheme for technical education (the term being used in its widest sense including vocational and industrial instruction).

(1) As a means to this end we strongly recommend that a Board of Technical Education should be established for the control of what may be described as the training, both theoretical and practical, for industry and commerce. The functions of this Board should include—

(a) the provision of educational facilities for the training of workmen, supervisors, foremen and managers for all the existing industries including mining and jute.

(b) the establishment and control of standards of theoretical and practical training.

(c) the conduct of examinations.

(d) the control of the standards of all institutions providing the theoretical training through grants-in-aid.

(e) the estimation and publication of the prospects of employment in various occupations and the courses of training to be followed to enter such occupations.

(f) assistance to trained men in finding employment through the establishment of an employment bureau for those who have been trained according to the standards set down.

(2) The total Government grant for this form of education should be placed under the control of the Board subject to Government audit.

(3) The composition of the Board should be representative of industries and commerce as well as of the general public with a leaven of educationists.

(C) General Education (Bengali Bhadralok).—(1) We recommend that—

(a) the village education should be brought into the closest touch with village life.

(b) instruction in the vernacular should be extended.

(c) the simple facts regarding modern agriculture, sanitation, co-operation, etc., should be taught in the village schools.

(d) the scientific side of school education should be developed to as great a degree as the literary side.

(e) technical schools with small workshops attached should be started in the mufassal.

(f) an experiment be made with one of the typical educational colonies, to test their practical usefulness.

(2) We recommend that—

(a) immediate steps be taken to raise the status of the teaching profession.

(b) facilities for their proper professional training be made.

(c) after the lapse of a reasonable period of time all grants-in-aid to schools should be given subject to the employment of properly qualified and trained teachers.

(D) Economic Development of the Country (Bengali Bhadralok, principally).—(1) We recommend that—

(a) intensive progress in the direction of the recommendations of the Indian Industrial Commission be made.

(b) as the economic development of the country depends on the application of the tested results of research the development departments of Governments should be strengthened and every encouragement given to research and demonstrations.

(c) capital in large amounts should be invested in agriculture, irrigation and in communications.

(d) the work of the development departments should be co-ordinated through an Expert Standing Committee of the heads of these departments.

(e) experiments be carried out to determine whether agriculture can be made a profitable occupation for Bengali Bhadralok.

(f) similar experiments be carried out regarding, cattle breeding, dairy farming, poultry farming, etc.,

(g) a class of properly trained development agents be appointed to carry on intensive propaganda of the results of research in the mufassal.

(h) the co-operative society movement be greatly encouraged in directions other than the supply of cheap credit only.

(2) We suggest that every encouragement be given by the leaders of the community in the acceleration of the change of attitude toward manual work—a change which has already set in.

(E) Anglo-Indian Community—General.—(1) We recommend that the Anglo-Indian Unemployment Committee be placed on a permanent basis through receiving direct financial assistance from the Government of Bengal in the form of a grant-in-aid equal to the amount raised by the Committee by its own efforts.

(2) (a) We appeal to employers to assist the Community by providing housing and other facilities after the manner in which these facilities are provided for industrial labour.

(b) We also recommend the question of co-operative housing schemes to the careful consideration of the leaders of the Community.

(3) We recommend to the existing Trade Unions and to others which may be started the development of such wider functions of trade unions as unemployment benefit funds and sickness benefit funds.

(4) (a) We are strongly in favour of recruitment to British regiments being opened to such Anglo-Indians as fulfil the necessary qualifications as to education and physique.

(b) We also consider that there is a good case for the employment of Anglo-Indians in the subsidiary branches of the Army.

(F) Education and Training.—(1) (a) We recommend that the Board of Control of Technical Education and Training mentioned before should prepare information regarding various occupations and place this information before parents and school children through the educational authorities and through the headmasters and teachers of schools.

(b) We strongly recommend the development of evening continuation classes for those who have had to leave school at an early age.

(c) As in the case of Bengali Bhadralok we recommend most strongly that the instruction in schools should be given a much more practical tendency and this recommendation we consider applies equally to the case of girls of this Community.

(d) We feel that the Anglo-Indian should make a much greater use of the existing facilities afforded by the Calcutta University. If however the present system of education is retained the gap in the system between the ages of 16 and 21 years should be filled up.

(e) As in the case of the Bengali Bhadralok we are emphatically of opinion that the immediate development of the facilities for the professional training of teachers and the proper recognition of the teaching profession are absolutely essential.

(f) We appeal to those who are in a position to help financially to increase the extent to which the education of this Community is endowed.

(g) Our recommendations regarding the formation of a Board of Technical Education apply equally to this Community.

(G) Both Bengali Bhadralok and Anglo-Indians.—We most strongly recommend that the New Calcutta Technical School should be opened as soon as possible and that the scope of its work should be extended to cover the developments outlined throughout the Report.

(H) We are strongly of opinion that the unemployment problem is really based on the economic problem of India and that this latter problem is worthy of the labours of a Committee of full-time experts and public men and we strongly recommend the study of the problem for early consideration.

72. Acknowledgments of assistance.—The extent to which we are indebted to reports of many of the committees which have investigated allied question will be recognised by those who are conversant with these reports, and we have pleasure in acknowledging fully the valuable assistance which we have received from the labours of our predecessors. We are also very grateful to all those who assisted us by sending in replies to the questionnaire and to those who consented to give oral evidence before us.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Monthly Weather and Crop Report of Bengal for November 1924.

I. Character of the season.—There was general rain accompanied by cloudy weather throughout the Province. The fall was much above the average especially in East and North Bengal. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of agricultural operations.—Reaping of winter paddy and sowing of spring crops continued, but the progress of the operations was slow owing to untimely heavy rain.

III. State of standing crops.—The condition of standing crops was generally promising in the beginning, but towards the middle of the month wet weather affected them in certain low-lying tracts of the Province. The condition of sugarcane was favourable on the whole.

IV. Prospects and probable outturn.—The prospects of the transplanted paddy were satisfactory and those of the broadcast one were fair. The estimated outturn of the winter rice crop was 89 per cent. and that of bhadoi crops was 73 per cent. of the normal.

V. Damage to standing crops.—Slight damage to winter paddy and spring crops by rains was reported from certain low-lying tracts of East and North Bengal.

VI. Condition of agricultural stock.—The condition of cattle was generally good. Stray cases of cattle disease were, however, reported from eight districts.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—No scarcity of fodder was reported from any part of the Province.

VIII. Prices of food-grains.—During the second fortnight of the month the price of the cheapest quality of rice rose in seventeen districts, fell in two and remained stationary in the rest of the Province. It ranged from 4½ seers per rupee at Dacca and Bakarganj to 7 seers and 9 chitaks per rupee at Midnapore.

IX. Condition of agricultural population.—The condition of agricultural population continued to be fair on the whole.
